GOVERNMENT OF MADRAS.

MARINE DEPARTMENT.

READ—the following letter from H. F. CLOGSTOUN, Esq., Officiating Accountant-General, to the Chief Secretary to Government, dated Fort St. George, 2nd March 1882, No. 870:—

Book Department.

I have the honor to forward the accompanying letter in original (to be returned), from the Master Attendant, from which it will be seen that he refuses to endorse over to me the Government Securities belonging to the Disabled Boatmen's Fund, and to request that he may be instructed by Government to carry out the orders of the Government of India conveyed in Financial Department Resolution, No. 276, dated 30th April 1880, and to endorse over the notes to me at once. The notes were clearly deposited with him as a Public officer ex-officio, and under the terms of the Government of India Resolution he has, it seems to me, no right to hold the notes any longer. The Master Attendant was requested to refer the matter to Government if he did not agree with me as to the necessity of his endorsing over the notes to me, but as it is apparent from his letter that he does not intend to address Government, I make the reference myself to avoid further correspondence.

Reference on the above, dated 7th March 1882, No. 154.

Referred, with Government of India Resolution, dated 30th April 1880, No. 276, recorded in Financial G.O., 25th May 1880, No. 1051, to the Master Attendant, for his remarks.

(By Order.)

READ—the following letter from J. H. TAYLOR, Esq., Lieutenant, R.N.R., Master Attendant, Madras, to the Acting Chief Secretary to Government, dated Madras, 28th April 1882, No. 3456:—

Administrative Department.

In returning the letter from the Accountant-General, No. 870, dated 2nd March 1882, referred to me for remark, I have the honor to report that prior to the passing of Act No. IV of 1842 there were two funds in existence, viz., the original Disabled Boatmen's Fund and the Compensation Fund, both of which ceased on the said Act coming into force, and under the Rules subsidiary to it, two new funds were created, the modern Disabled Boatmen's Fund and the Monsoon Fund, to be supported by voluntary contributions, Sunday extra boat hire, License Fees, fines levied by the Magistrate under the Boat Act, No. 4 of 1842, $2\frac{1}{2}$ per cent. on the amount value of the property under the Salvage Fund. The old Compensation Fund, with a credit balance of Rs. (5,197-5-11) five thousand one hundred and ninety-seven, Annas five, and Pies eleven merged into the Monsoon Fund, but in 1843 this fund, with a balance of Rs. (1,850-7-11) one thousand eight hundred and fifty, Annas seven, and Pies eleven was consolidated with the modern Disabled Boatmen's Fund, to which was also added the sum of Rs. (14,908-7-2) fourteen thousand nine hundred and eight, Annas seven, and Pies two, which stood to the credit of the original Disabled Boatmen's Fund. The capital has been invested in the names of the Superintendent of Marine and the Master Attendant, Madras, or as they are now designated the Master Attendant, Administrative Department, and the Deputy Master Attendant, Executive Department, Madras.

2. In 1859 the state of the Disabled Boatmen's Fund was fully reviewed by Government, and it is recorded in G.O., Marine, No. 653, dated 21st December 1859, that the "Government consider it undesirable to connect themselves with funds of this nature for the benefit of those not in their service," and "the management of it will remain as at present with the Master Attendant."

3. Under the above circumstances, the fund in question would appear to be one not contemplated to be brought under the Government of India Order quoted by the Accountant-General.

4. I beg to annex particulars of the vested capital of the fund, as it stands at present:—

No.					RS.
No. 001799/1176	..	4	per cent. 1832-33	..	3,500

" 12596/ct.004613	..	4	per cent. 1879	..	2,000
Total ..					28,800

5. There are at present thirty pensioners on the fund as per accompanying list, and Rs. (90) ninety are distributed to them monthly from the interest derived from the above bonds.

6. Finally, I beg to refer to paragraph 2 of the Government of India Resolution in question, in which it is stated that it is found that owing to the inexperience of local officers certain risks attend these transactions to the Government on the one hand, and to the local or private interests concerned on the other. It would, therefore, seem that the proposed transfer of the Funds to the Accountant-General involves a control by that officer over the management of the same. Such a state of things will be attended with serious difficulties. The Accountant-General is not in a position to decide who are proper subjects to receive assistance from the fund.

7. Constant references to this department for information will assuredly follow if the Fund is transferred to his custody.

8. The fund is a "charitable endowment," and has been carefully managed by this department since its foundation, without any possible risk to Government and to the satisfaction of those interested in its revenues, the fact being that the boatmen of the port are known to the officers of this department, and when they become too aged or infirm for work, their claims for relief are fully understood; but if the Accountant-General is to be vested with the power of deciding on the eligibility of applicants for relief, I should, as an alternative measure, respectfully propose that the management of the fund be entrusted to the Headmen of the Boatmen Class, so that this department may be relieved of the correspondence which would necessarily follow the proposed change in the present management.

9. Moreover, the Disabled Boatmen's Fund being essentially supported by owners themselves, it would be necessary for the Government to formally relieve the present Trustees of the Fund from all liability for change of Trusteeship in transferring the funded securities absolutely to the Accountant-General.

10. With these remarks, I respectfully await the orders of Government.

Reference on the above, dated 4th May 1882.

Referred to the Accountant-General for any further remarks, he may desire to make.

(Signed) C. G. MASTER,
Acting Chief Secretary.

READ—the following letter from H. F. CLOGSTOUN, Esq., Officiating Accountant-General, to the Acting Chief Secretary to Government, dated Fort St. George, 12th May 1882, No. 1880:—

Book Department.

In reply to your reference on No. 304 of 1882, I have the honor to remark that the Master Attendant appears to have misunderstood the meaning of the Government of India Resolution, No. 276, dated 30th April 1880, and the subject of Government Promissory Notes in the hands of Public officers ex-officio. The fact of such notes being entrusted to the Accountant-General does not in any way give that officer any control over the funds derived from such notes; he is merely the custodian of the notes and is responsible that the interest is realized on the due date and paid over to the Public officers entrusted ex-officio with the management of the funds.

2. There can, I think, be no doubt that the notes were deposited with the Master Attendant ex-officio, and they should therefore, under the Government of India Financial Department Resolution, referred to above, be entrusted to the Accountant-General.

ORDER—dated 25th May 1882, No. 117, Marine.

As it appears from the Accountant-General's letter that the application of the Government of India rule to the capital investment of the Disabled Boatmen's Fund will not involve any interference by the Accountant-General with the application of the annual income of the fund, the Government direct that the necessary transfer by endorsement of the Government Promissory Notes now standing in the names of the Master Attendant and Deputy Master Attendant, to the Accountant-General, Madras, be carried out, the administration of the income remaining as at present with the Master Attendant. It appears that at present the annual income of the fund from the invested capital is Rs. 1,217, and that there are thirty pensioners on it receiving in the aggregate Rs. 1,080 or 1,092 yearly. From the former correspondence it would seem that some small establishment is maintained for account purposes. The papers before Government do not show the income from sources other than the capital investment or how this is applied, but it may be inferred that the surplus is invested when a sufficient amount has accrued. It does not appear whether any annual report on the fund is prepared.

2. The Government have no desire to interfere in any way with the management of the fund, but as it devolves on a Government Officer, they think it advisable that an annual report of the administration of the Disabled Boatmen's Fund and the Monsoon Fund should be prepared by him, showing assets and liabilities and income and expenditure with sources whence derived, and that copy should be submitted for the information of Government.

of material for the yearly Presidency Administration Report, the following consolidated instructions on that subject are issued. The Orders mentioned in the margin are, as far as they affect the question in hand, either incorporated in, or modified by, the present Order, and need not in future be referred to by reporting officers.

2. Standing Information.—When standing information or standing statistics are required by the Government on any subject, special arrangements will be made for their collection. Such matter is not necessary in any of the current departmental reports. Heads of departments should, however, keep the interleaved copy of standing information recently published by the Government posted up with such entries or references as may enable them when called upon to correct to date the matter there given.

3. Summary of the Administration.—A general review of the salient points in the administration is under this title prefixed to the yearly Presidency Administration Report under orders from the Secretary of State conveyed in Government of India Resolution recorded in G.O., dated 4th June 1873, No. 584. The duty of drafting the portions relating to the several departments has been deputed in several cases to the heads of departments concerned. These drafts are to be forwarded to the Public Department in the form of manuscript notes. What is required is a very concise summary written in narrative and non-technical style, showing for the year the condition of the subject or department concerned, with comparative notices of one or two successive years showing the progress made. The matter is to be narrative rather than critical. Material will be found by heads of departments in their own general knowledge of the year's administration, in the records of the Proceedings of Government for the year, and in the leading statistics contained in their own departmental administration reports for the year. Reference should be made to the summary of the latest published Presidency Report, in order to obtain a general idea of what is wanted in these contributions. The object being to secure an intelligent abstract of the year's proceedings, heads of departments are desired not to allow subordinates to prepare this material. If unsatisfactory material is sent in, it will be returned for revision. The material when prepared is not to be inserted in the corresponding departmental report, but is to be submitted to the Public Department as a draft for the purpose mentioned. In Appendix A at the end of this Order will be found the list of subjects on which contributions are required of officers who will make them and of the dates when they are due in the Government Office. When a note is marked in the appendix as coming from one officer through another, the latter is responsible for its contents, and is at liberty to manipulate it in any way that may appear to him necessary before sending it on. For the sake of convenience in this office, a separate note should be made on each separate subject.

4. Departmental Chapters.—The majority of the reports utilized in the body of the Presidency Report, or the portion headed departmental chapters, are the ordinary departmental reports, these answering thus the twofold purpose of enabling the Government to check the operations of the department concerned and of giving the Government material with which to report to higher authority. From whichever point of view the departmental reports are regarded the following remarks will be applicable.

5. Punctuality of despatch is to be regarded as the first consideration. In Appendix B at the end of this Order will be found a list of all the reports utilized in the Presidency Report and the date on which each is due in the Government Office. The dates have been fixed in each case with regard to the special circumstances of the report concerned and with reference to the replies received to G.O., dated 7th December 1878, No. 1766, elsewhere recorded. Reports arriving after the date now specified will be liable to be excluded from the Presidency Administration Report, and, if that is found to be necessary, very serious notice will be taken of the occurrence. Heads of departments will adopt a similar procedure with their subordinates; that is to say, if a subordinate officer fails to supply the head of a department with material in due time, the proper course will be in most cases not to await the material from that officer, but to make up the report without it, using estimated figures if necessary, and to bring the default to the notice of Government.

6. Appendix B shows the name of the officer sending in the departmental reports. It is only necessary on this head to make the same remark as was made above in paragraph 3 in the case of notes for the summary, viz., that when a report is marked as coming from one officer through another, the latter is, for the purposes of the Presidency Report, responsible for its contents. The precise form in which such reports are to be communicated from the first office to the second office can be settled by the heads of departments concerned themselves.

7. Another column in the same appendix shows the form in which the reports are to be submitted to Government; that is to say, whether they are to be in print or in manuscript, and, if in print, in what size they are to be printed. In the case of all reports submitted in print, the officers concerned will themselves see them through the Press, the printing being carried out under the supervision of the Superintendent of the Government Press. The prescribed number of copies will be struck off complete as soon as the report is ready for submission to Government. The distribution of copies will not, however, be made by any department until the department has received the orders of Government on the report, and in all such cases the Government Order will be included in the copies distributed. Distribution within the Presidency is effected direct by the reporting officers; distribution outside the Presidency is effected through this department of the Government Secretariat. The distribution list will have been previously arranged in communication with Government.

8. In the arrangement of the departmental reports, reporting officers will work up to the Presidency Report as far as is practicable. The latest published Presidency Report will be referred to, and the order there observed as to Chapters, sections, headings, and sub-headings will be observed in the departmental reports, unless some particular reason exists to the contrary. The Board of Revenue, whose report covers many subjects, should especially notice this. The Board of Revenue will observe that it is desirable in all cases where it is practicable to make that portion of their report which is included under chapter V a mere abstract statement of accounts, and to keep distinct such information as is of an administrative nature. This will not be possible in such cases as Salt, Customs, Abkari, &c., where, under the scheme of the Presidency Report, there is no administrative section; but in all cases where there is such a section—as for instance in Land Revenue and Local Fund Circles—the distinction should be attended to. The scheme at present in force for the arrangement of the main sections of the Presidency Report is shown in appendix C at the end of this order. That appendix shows also the reports or portions of reports which are utilized under each section.

9. The inconvenience of having different periods of reports is seriously felt when the material given by the different departments is put side by side in one volume as in the Presidency Report. This inconvenience will, however, be reduced if the matter contained in the departmental reports is limited exactly to the period to which the report refers. Reporting officers should therefore report as if writing on the last day of the period to which their report refers and exclude all subsequent matter. Appendix B shows the period to which each report relates.

10. As regards the contents of the departmental reports, a few general remarks alone are possible. The instruction given in paragraph 2 above will not prevent reporting officers from making any short explanation of a standing nature on particular points which may seem to them convenient, as for instance in the case of the explanation of a technical term not likely to be understood. Statements showing statistics for a number of years will be out of place in the yearly report, but comparisons may conveniently be carried back for two years or three years. The Imperial bearings of questions should not be lost sight of. Thus, where trustworthy data are available, a comparison may often usefully be given between the statistics of the United Kingdom, of British India, of other Provinces in India, and of this Presidency, though it must be noted here that it is not the comparison of actual numbers, but that of rates, percentages, and proportions, which is valuable for the purpose of throwing light on the working of departments. Departmental administration reports are not to be made the vehicle for any request for orders, or for any matter of a nature calling for orders. They are properly a record of work done, of events that have occurred, of results arrived at, of cases that have been settled, and of discussions that have come to a termination; and few instances will occur when it will be desirable to introduce matters answering to any other description. Matters which have come before the departments only as reference, and decisions of this Government which are known to be under review by the Government of India, should, as far as is compatible with giving a consistent account of the year's proceedings, be entirely omitted. In the case of notice being made of discussions which have taken place, both sides of the questions must be stated temperately, and remarks must be confined strictly to what is already on record. Subjects which have been noticed one year should, if necessary, be carried forward and noticed again in the next year. The economical condition of Native States and their public and recognized relations with the British Government can be noticed and explained, but diplomatic transactions with such States or with Foreign Powers, or contemporary events affecting those transactions, are not to be referred to.

11. In the case of the finance report a literal agreement will not be expected between the figures finally put out by the Accountant-General and the figures incidentally mentioned in the administration reports of other departments.

12. Reports should be written with the utmost brevity consistent with perspicuity. The body of reports is often much too lengthy and diffuse, especially the letter-press portion; reporting officers can, with a very little attention, keep a check on the tendency of reports to grow in this direction. The number of appendix statements appended to the reports is also frequently susceptible of reduction. A statement or return found necessary on a particular occasion, but not permanently required, is liable to be continued for an indefinite time because there is no order to stop it. Statements which have once been prescribed by the Government cannot be discontinued without application being made to them, but reporting officers should not fail to bring to the notice of Government from time to time any cases where it appears to them that a discontinuance of a return is advisable. It will be convenient in this connection if a foot-note is given to each appendix statement appearing in a departmental report showing the Government Order, if any, prescribing it.

13. Statistical Returns.—The only returns which will be required from departments for the purposes of the third portion of the Presidency Report will, unless special instructions are sent to them, be those appearing in the third portion of the latest published Presidency Report. Appendix D at the end of this order shows the officers responsible for the different statements as at present arranged and the mode and date of their submission. The titles of the statements are quoted here in brief only, and the Presidency Report itself must be referred to for further particulars. When these statements come up as part of a departmental report, they should be put into a special appendix, and should have the headings and titles required for the Presidency volume. The necessity of keeping time is here of as absolute importance as in the case of reports mentioned in paragraph 5 above, and the remarks given there equally apply here. Where not already obtaining, a system should be introduced of entering up in the different offices in the course of the year, or month by month, the statistical matter required at the end of the year.

14. Note.—All questions of departmental reports and statistical returns in so far as they concern the Presidency Report will in future be dealt with exclusively in the Public Department of the Secretariat.

15. Copy of these Proceedings will be forwarded for the information of the Government of India.

ORDER—dated 23rd February 1886, No. 410, Public.

The Order of Government above read has been reprinted with revised appendices, embodying subsequent alterations, for convenience of reference. As it is possible that some of the dates specified may be still inaccurate, officers discovering any mistakes are requested at once to bring them to the notice of Government.

2. The attention of heads of departments is especially called to the instructions contained in the above Order as to the manner in which the manuscript notes, required for the Summary or Part I of the Presidency Administration Report, are to be prepared. These instructions have been of late lost sight of, and the manuscript notes, instead of containing "an intelligent abstract of the year's proceedings," prepared by the heads of departments in person, have become too often merely a reduced edition of the departmental administration report.

3. The necessity for the punctual submission of all reports is again impressed on all officers concerned.
