No. 179. ORDER THEREON, 26th December 1877, No. 2957.

With reference to an Order of the Pension Department, dated 19th September 1876, No. 563, remarking on the practice which obtained of entering up the Service Books of servants only a few months or so before they retire from the Government service, all Heads of Departments were called upon by Order, No. 1122, dated the 9th October, to report whether everything in their respective departments had provided themselves with the service books required by Section 39 of the Pension Code.

2. It appears from the [illegible] accepted that with some exceptions the servants in the several departments [illegible] supplied with service books, and that steps were taken to supply books to [illegible] who had none.

3. The Governor in Council is [illegible] opinion that to ensure the service books being properly kept up, the Chief Subordi[illegible] every office should be required to report to the Head of the Office at the close [illegible] each year whether the books of the several servants are correctly written up to [illegible] not.
