

GOVERNMENT OF MADRAS.

REVENUE DEPARTMENT.

READ—the following despatch from the Right Honorable Lord CROSS, Her Majesty's Secretary of State for India, to His Excellency the Right Honorable the Governor in Council, Fort St. George, dated India Office, London, 7th April 1887, No. 3, Financial (Stores):—

With reference to your Secretary's letter in the Revenue Department No. 11, dated 15th February 1887, forwarding an indent for stores for Madras Survey Department, I have to inform you that I have sanctioned compliance with the indent.

2. I enclose a copy of a report by the Director-General of Stores pointing out that the established proportion is very largely exceeded, and suggesting that this may be due to the proportion shown being a one year's instead of a three years' supply, and I request that you will furnish me with an explanation on this point. I have also to invite your attention to the suggestions of the Director-General of Stores as to the desirability of adopting less than three years' supply as a basis for the established proportion, wherever possible.

3. It is observed that some of the items of the indent are drawing materials or stationery, and I have to inquire whether all the departments in the Madras Presidency requiring such supplies might not, in future, obtain them through the Madras Stationery Department, in accordance with the practice followed in Bengal.

ENCLOSURE.

Copy report by the Director-General of Stores, India Office, dated 23rd March 1887.

The annexed Madras Revenue Department Secretary's letter No. 11, dated 15th February 1887, forwards an indent for stores required for the Madras Survey Department. The cost of the stores is estimated at about £232.

2. The established proportion is very largely exceeded throughout the indent, but this may be due to one year's supply being shown as the established proportion instead of three years' supply, as usual.

3. Paragraph 6 of the rules to be observed in preparing, and forwarding to the Secretary of State in Council, indents for stores states that "the established proportion is, as a rule, three years' supply, and is, unless specially ordered, based on the average of the previous three years' consumption. Demands in excess of the established proportion should be explained." It seems desirable that there should be uniformity in the carrying out of this rule, and that it should not be left doubtful whether excess demands can be explained on the supposition that the established proportion shown is only one-third of what it is really intended to be.

4. It is not intended to imply by the above remarks that the basis for the established proportion should always be a three years' supply, but only that where the three years' supply is adopted it should be so shown in the indent. For some departments, less than a three years' supply is taken for a basis, and this should always be done, if possible, where stores are very perishable in India, or where stocks can be rapidly replenished.

5. Some of the items included in the indent are drawing materials or stationery, and it is suggested that all the departments in Madras requiring such supplies might in future obtain them through the Madras Stationery Department, in accordance with the course followed in Bengal, and recommended for Bombay in my report of the 7th March on Bombay Educational letter No. 2, dated 31st January 1887.

ORDER—dated 12th May 1887, No. 459, Revenue.

Miscellaneous.

Communicated to the Departments of the Secretariat and to all heads of Departments under the Revenue Department for information and guidance.

2. The Superintendent, Revenue Survey, will submit the explanation called for in paragraph 2 of the despatch, and will state his views upon the suggestion made in paragraph 3.

3. Paragraph 3 will also be referred for the remarks of the Superintendent of Stationery through the Public Department.
