Service—Officers.

Read the following papers :—

No. 453. From Captain W. L. C. BADDELEY, R.E., Deputy Chief Engineer, Public Works Department, to Colonel J. O. HASTED, R.E., Secretary to Government, Public Works Department; dated Madras, 25th January 1887.

I have the honor to address you on the subject of the service for pension of Royal Engineer Officers who have been selected for continuous service in India under the terms of the Royal Warrant of 20th February 1886.

2. From para. 11 of the Royal Warrant it will be observed that "three years of British service shall be reckoned as Indian service;" but in para. 10 it is laid down that "service for pension shall be reckoned from the date of first commission," and it is with reference to this clause that I would most respectfully point out that the Royal Warrant has necessarily been framed to meet the conditions of service of two classes of Royal Engineer Officers—

- (1) Those who have served continuously on the Indian Establishment;
- (2) Those who have served partly on the Indian and partly on the Home Establishment.

3. I received my first commission in December 1871, and arrived in India in November 1874, after completing my course of instruction at Chatham, and have since that date served without break on the Indian Establishment; so that having been selected for continuous service in India from 26th May 1886, I am now in a similar position as regards service to those officers of the late Madras Engineers who also went through a course of instruction at Chatham; and I would most respectfully urge that the reasons which were considered sufficient to enable those officers to count towards pension their Addiscombe service apply with increased force to those officers of the Royal Engineers who, like myself, have served continuously on the Indian Establishment.

4. The reasons which I venture to think apply with increased force are—

- (a) The average age of officers at the date of first commission in the Royal Engineers is considerably above that of officers of the late Madras Engineers who were commissioned from Addiscombe.
- (b) Although entering the service when older, the officers of the Royal Engineers have, after the same length of service, lower pensions than those granted to the late Madras Engineers.

5. I trust that the arguments which I have used may be considered strong enough to enable the Government of Madras to forward this subject to the Government of India, with the recommendation that the Secretary of State be addressed in view to all Royal Engineer Officers who have served continuously in India and who have further elected to remain permanently on the Indian Establishment being permitted, under the conditions applicable to the officers of the late Indian Engineers, to count as service towards pension the period spent at the Royal Military Academy, Woolwich.

No. 396-C.

Forwarded to the Military Department, with recommendation that the Government of India be moved to address the Secretary of State on the subject of Captain Baddeley's letter.

No. 454. Memorandum from Brigadier-General E. FAUNCE, for Adjutant-General, Madras Army, to Lieutenant-Colonel A. KENNEY-HERBERT, Secretary to Government, Military Department; dated Ootacamund, 21st February 1887, No. 373-O (Service—Royal Engineers).

In accordance with Para. 11, Royal Warrant, dated 20th February 1886, Royal Engineer Officers, who have been permitted to elect for continuous service in India, are allowed to reckon towards Indian service for pension three years' Home service, and as the service of an officer of the British Army counts from date of his permanent* commission, the period spent at the Royal Military Academy, which is prior to that date, is not therefore, it is presumed, pensionable service under British rules.

No. 455. To the Secretary to the Government of India, Military Department; dated 5th March 1887, No. 1312.

No. 456. From Lt.-Col. E. COLLEN, Offg. Secretary to the Government of India, Military Department, to Brigadier-General A. KENNEY-HERBERT, Secretary to the Government of Madras, Military Department; dated Fort William, 9th May 1887, No. 964-A.

Service—Officers.

In reply to your No. 1312, dated the 5th March 1887, I am directed to ask that, under the orders of the Governor in Council, Captain W. L. C. Baddeley, R.E., Deputy Chief Engineer and Under Secretary to the Government of Madras, Public Works Department, may be informed that his application, based on the ground of having elected for continuous Indian service, to count as service for pension the period spent by him at the Royal Military Academy, Woolwich, prior to his first permanent commission, is inadmissible.
