Read—the following paper :—

Proceedings of the Government of India, Department of Finance and Commerce (Accounts and Finance—Stores), dated Simla, 7th May 1887, No. 2293.

Read—the following despatch from the Secretary of State for India, to the Government of India, dated 31st March 1887, No. 100 :—

In the preparation of the estimates of expenditure in this country, much difficulty is found in arriving at the probable outlay on stores during the ensuing year. It was in order to ensure as much accuracy as was practicable in this respect that, in a despatch, dated the 23rd December 1867, No. 464, it was requested that forecasts of their probable annual requirements in respect of stores from England might be regularly transmitted to this country by the various indenting departments in India.

2. From an examination of the forecasts recently received, it is, however, manifest that they are not prepared on an uniform principle, and the estimates based on them are consequently less accurate than is to be desired.

3. I have, therefore, to request that the following instructions may be brought to the notice of the various indenting departments, for their guidance in the preparation of these forecasts :—

(a) The forecasts are intended to show the probable amount to be expended in England in the next ensuing financial year, i.e., from the 1st April to the 31st of March following the date of their receipt. As an interval must of necessity elapse between the receipt of an indent and the payment for the stores therein demanded, it may, as a general rule, be assumed that stores for which the indents are received in this office between the 1st of January and the 31st of March will not be paid for until the following financial year.

(b) The cost of the stores only should be estimated, as an addition will be made in this office to cover cost of freight.

(c) A forecast of the annual indent may not always be sufficient. An addition, based on the experience of former years, should be made, when necessary, to cover supplementary demands.

(d) The forecast should not contain a number of unpriced items. As far as circumstances will allow, the probable cost of the stores should be given.

(e) No elaborate details are required, the essential point being the total amount of contemplated expenditure. This should be clearly shown, and any subdivision or explanation that is necessary may be appended. Attention should be specially drawn to any large and exceptional anticipated expenditure.

(f) The amount should be given in English currency, so that there may be no misunderstanding as to the cost in sterling money in this country, on which the estimate is based. (In some cases they have been made out in rupees at 2*s.* each, in others apparently in rupees at current rates, while in a few no clue is given as to what the figures represent.)

(g) Each forecast should show clearly the head of service to which the stores are to be charged in the Home Accounts.

(h) The forecasts for the financial year (which should be written on foolscap paper) should arrive in this country not later than the first week in November of the preceding year.

4. These instructions have reference to the annual forecasts only. But it is further desirable, for the same reasons as are given above in paragraph 3 (f), that indenting officers should be instructed to state the estimated prices in their indents in English currency. The detailed prices should be exclusive of freight; but it appears desirable, for guidance as to the provision to be made in the budget in India for the total cost of stores sent from England, that, when practicable, a lump sum should be added to that estimate on account of freight.

Order—

Ordered, that copy be forwarded to the several departments of the Government of India, the Local Governments and Administrations, the Mint Masters, Calcutta and Bombay, the Head Commissioner of Paper Currency, the Director-General of the Post Office of India, and the Commissioner of Northern India Salt Revenue, with the request that the annual estimates of stores required from England may in future be prepared in accordance with the instructions contained in the despatch.
