READ—the following paper :—

No. 64 I.

Note by the Chief Engineer for Irrigation.

The work of investigation of the requirements of the irrigation works of the presidency and of placing them in order now goes under the name of the "Tank Maintenance Scheme." This term is not now suitable, and, as pointed out by Colonel Hasted, then Chief Engineer for Irrigation, in paragraph 9 of his note printed in the papers accompanying G.O., No. 646 I., dated 12th July 1884, page 7, the work the Tank divisions are engaged on is the restoration of the irrigation works. As this is the case, it is suggested that, in future, the "Tank Maintenance Scheme" should be called "Tank Restoration Scheme."
