tripling deviations from the printed return of public military buildings submitted in the previous year, it is necessary to forward a complete printed return for each succeeding year; or whether it will be sufficient merely to intimate the fact of there being no change, or forward a list of such tripling alterations in manuscript.

2. I am to observe that the adoption of the latter course will result in much saving in printing & stationery.

Return of Military Bdgs

W

I am quite understood the necessity of having printed returns of buildings, but when there are only a few alterations, it seems a waste of money to print the whole return over again. This year all the returns of Military Buildings will be printed and as the alterations in future are not likely to be very great I think they might be made in manuscript - leaving it to the discretion of the St. to re-print the return when the alterations & additions are becoming numerous. This can also be checked in the Head Office. I would suggest that the Cost of Binding be withheld.
