No 2037 wa/29th July/87

With order

5583.

With reference to
para 3 it may be remarked that
it is very unlikely
that any temporary
employee will
declare that he
resigns his lien
on his permanent
appointment.

There is a case in point now under
disposal - a
draftsman was appointed as
overseer on the
temporary establishment - he
obtained a lien
on his permanent
appointment for
a fixed time, at the end of which

temporary service, which though not mentioned in para 184 IV., are to keep his app^t

open for him and he was directed
by Govt to elect
whether he wd
revert or resign
his lieu. Under
force of circumstances he did
the latter, and
forfeited some
year's service for
pension as he was subsequently app^td. Overseer
on the permanent Est^t. It seems a hard case, but on
the other hand
the D.E. complained
that he could not get duly qualified
men to accept
the acting post of draftsman. It is not certain how long
a man may be

The ruling of
the Govt of India
that upper sub^s
of the permanent

be appointed to
better paid posts
on the temporary Establishment
will considerably
reduce the number of cases
of the kind referred to, but the ruling
w^d not apply to the case of ~~the~~ a draftsman being
app^td. a temporary
overseer.

OFFICE NOTE No. 353

To

Code para 183 (last two lines) which requires from all temporary servants the declaration indicated in para 184 IV., appears to have been overlooked by this Office, and I propose to issue a Circular calling for the submission of such declarations in respect of all temporary servants at present employed, excepting those chargeable to works, to whom the rule does not apply; but before issuing the Circular I should be glad to have the approval of Government to the draft form of declaration forwarded herewith

2. You will see that I have included in the declaration certain other conditions, attaching to

actually in force, and as to which it is equally desirable to secure a clear understanding.

3. In the same connection I would suggest the expediency of protecting a servant who may be transferred from a permanent to a temporary post, or who may of his own free will accept such a temporary post. A case occurred the other day — in fact it was this case which led my attention to the neglect of the Code rule quoted above — in which a servant so accepting a temporary post was only prevented by the merest accident from losing his lien on his permanent appointment, and so possibly forfeiting his service for pension. In order to protect such men against the consequence of their own ignorance, I would suggest that when a permanent servant is appointed to a temporary post, the Examiner should be prohibited from passing any thing but acting pay to his successor in the permanent post, until receipt of a declaration by the transferee to the effect that he knowingly resigns his lien on the permanent post and accepts all the consequences of such resignation

4. If this suggestion is approved, I will submit a draft form of declaration to meet the special cases of those transferred men and draft Standing Order to give effect to the proposal.
