JUDICIAL DEPARTMENT.

READ—again G.O., dated 2nd September 1886, No. 2381, Judicial.

READ—also the following paper :—

From G. HAMNETT, Esq., Inspector-General of Registration, Madras, to the Chief Secretary to Government, dated Madras, 15th September 1886, G. No. 2597.

With reference to paragraph 4 of G.O., Judicial, No. 2381, dated the 2nd September 1886, received this day, I have the honor to state that I brought to the notice of the Government in my letter, T. No. 1616, dated the 4th June 1882, the necessity for providing quarters for the sub-registrars and their clerks at Vayitri and Gúdálúr, in the Wynaad. I said :—

“The sub-registrar of Vayitri, in the Wynaad taluk of Malabar, has brought to my notice that the Government and Local Fund officers stationed there are provided with house accommodation, and, as there are no private buildings available within a radius of about two miles from his office, begs that a small house may be erected for him.”

“I addressed the Collector of Malabar on the subject and learn from him that the sub-magistrate of Vayitri pays no rent for the house provided for his accommodation by the Government.

“Vayitri is a feverish place, and the officers appointed to the sub-district have invariably suffered from fever and are unwilling to remain there. I have the honor, therefore, to recommend, for the favorable consideration of the Government, the provision of house accommodation for the sub-registrar and his clerk at the public expense.

“Should the Government be pleased to sanction the proposal, it will be necessary to extend the sanction to Gúdálúr as well. Gúdálúr is in the Nilgiri district. It is also a feverish place, and no suitable house accommodation is available for the sub-registrar, who, I learn, is down with fever and unable to attend to work.”

2. In a subsequent letter, T. No. 1741, dated the 13th June 1882, I said :—

“The house accommodation need not be of an expensive kind. I think a room of 12' x 8' for the sub-registrar, and another 10' x 8' for the clerk, with a verandah four feet wide in front, and a kitchen, would be sufficient. The walls to be of brick-in-mud plastered with chunam, and the roof of wood covered with tiles.”

3. And it will be seen from G.O., dated the 17th August 1883, No. 2316 W., Public Works, that the estimates submitted for sanction for each station, amounting to Rs. 2,200, provided only for—

“a room measuring 12 feet by 10 feet for the sub-registrar, and another 10 feet square for his clerk, with kitchen 5 feet wide in rear and a verandah 4 feet wide in front of the building; the roof to be of couples and collar beams and covered with mission tiles, with $\frac{3}{4}$ -inch thick planking nailed to the lower side of the couples.”

4. There was nothing extravagant in the accommodation provided, but labor and materials are very expensive in the Wynaad, and the cost of building is therefore higher there than in the plains.

5. Notwithstanding the provision of accommodation and higher rates of pay, the sub-registrars at Vayitri and Gúdálúr are quite unwilling to remain at those stations, and avail themselves of every opportunity to apply for a transfer to the plains.

6. With the exception of these two stations, there are no quarters provided for either registrars or sub-registrars in this Presidency. The charge for the quarters was defrayed from registration receipts, and not from Imperial revenues.

ORDER—dated 28th September 1886, No. 2584, Judicial.
