Furlough—Regulations.

Read the following papers :—

No. 250. From Brigadier-General M. C. FARRINGTON, Adjutant-General, Madras Army, to Brigadier-General A. KENNEY-HERBERT, Secretary to Government, Military Department; dated Ootacamund, 6th September 1887, No. 2223-O (Furlough).

In acknowledging the receipt of Proceedings of the Madras Government, No. 5284, dated the 29th ultimo, I have the honor, by desire of the Commander-in-Chief, to point out, with reference to para. 1 of the instructions therein recorded that, under Rules IX and X, Notes 1 and 2 of Rule XXIV of the Furlough Regulations of 1868, the amount of furlough on private affairs to which an officer serving under the Furlough Regulations of 1868 is entitled is 2 in 8, 3 in 14, 4 in 20, 5 in 26 and 6 in 32 years actual service in India, and that in accordance with this rule the furlough due to an officer of Royal Engineers with 12 years net service in India is only 2 years and not 2 years and 8 months, there being no authority as far as this office is aware under which fractional periods are admissible to officers of less than 8, 14, 20, 26, 32 years net service in India.

2. As the terms of Rule IX itself preclude this combination of fractional periods of leave, I am desired to bring the inconsistencies in the regulations to notice, and to suggest that the question may be referred to the Government of India.

No. 251. To the Secretary to the Government of India, Military Department; dated 19th September 1887, No. 5753.

No. 252. From Lieutenant-Colonel E. COLLEN, Officiating Secretary to the Government of India, Military Department, to Brigadier-General A. KENNEY-HERBERT, Secretary to the Government of Madras, Military Department; dated Fort William, the 24th October 1887, No. 1550-A.

Furlough—Regulations.

In reply to your letter No. 5753, dated the 19th September 1887, I am directed to refer you to the rule laid down in Section 48, Proviso (ii), Civil Leave Code, which is based on a military despatch from the Secretary of State for India, and to say, for the information of the Governor in Council, that although no furlough accrues to an officer in military employ for broken periods of service, it does so in the case of an officer in the Civil Department, and under the rule referred to a military officer entering civil employ is allowed to carry to his credit in the Civil Department the proportion of furlough which under military rules would have become due to him had he continued in military employ.
