Read—the following letter from E. GIBSON, Esq., Acting Collector of Tanjore, to the Secretary to the Commissioners of Land Revenue, dated Kallimodu, 6th June 1888, No. 328 :—

I have the honor to forward, herewith, an estimate, amounting to Rs. 345, for converting the poultry house in the St. Joseph's college buildings into a latrine, and request that the Board will be pleased to obtain sanction of Government to the same.

2. The report of the Superintending Engineer and the plan received therewith are enclosed.

Resolution—dated 19th June 1888, Mis. No. 3723.

The plan and estimate for Rs. 345 (and not Rs. 375 as stated by the Superintending Engineer), for converting the poultry house in the St. Joseph's college buildings into a latrine for the use of officers of all the departments, are submitted for the sanction of Government.

2. The Superintending Engineer reports that the provision for a latrine for officers was overlooked when the estimates for converting the college building for the use of the Revenue Department and for general purposes were framed. Vide G.O. No. 296 W., dated 24th January 1888.

From T. M. HORSFALL, Esq., Acting Registrar of the High Court of Judicature at Madras, Appellate Side, to the Acting Chief Secretary to Government, dated Madras, 5th July 1888, No. 1699.

I am directed to forward, for the sanction of Government, the accompanying plan and revised estimate for improvements to the cattle pound in the St. Joseph's college buildings at Negapatam, at a cost of Rs. 970.

Approved and transferred to the Public Works Department, with reference to para. 3 of Public Works G.O. No. 296, dated 24th January 1888.

From J. W. RUNDALL, Esq., M.I.C.E., Superintending Engineer, VI Circle, to the Chief Engineer, Public Works Department, dated Pálni, 18th July 1888, No. 862 T.J.

The Executive Engineer, Negapatam Division, brings to notice that early sanction to the revised estimate (Rs. 970) for cattle pound in St. Joseph's college buildings at Negapatam is particularly needed, as the distrained cattle and sheep are all over the compound.

2. The revised estimate in question was submitted with my No. 273 T.J., dated 10th May 1888, through the District Judge, Tanjore. I have the honor to request that early sanction may be obtained to the same.

Order—dated 1st August 1888, No. 2334 W., Public Works.

The revised estimate, amounting to Rs. 970, for constructing a cattle pound in the St. Joseph's college buildings at Negapatam is sanctioned in supersession of the estimate of Rs. 300 included in the estimate of Rs. 10,325, sanctioned in G.O. No. 296 W., dated 24th January 1888. The total sanction for the buildings will now stand at Rs. 53,505.

G.O., dated 20th November 1888, No. 2409, Judicial.

From the Registrar of the High Court of Judicature at Madras, Appellate Side, dated Madras, 26th October 1888, No. 2698.

I am directed to forward to you a copy of paras. 1 to 4 and 9 to 16 of letter to this Court from the Acting District Judge of Tanjore, No. 350, dated 26th ultimo.

2. With reference to the first part, I am to request that the Government may be pleased to direct the attention of the Public Works Department to the question of light in framing future plans for court-houses, as the question is one of very great importance.

3. With reference to the second part, I am to say that it is much to be regretted that the accommodation afforded in the old buildings of St. Joseph's College at Negapatam should have turned out so unsuitable. The High Court does not anticipate that Government will be prepared at present to build the two new court-rooms suggested by Mr. Knox, but the Judges request that Government will be pleased to direct the Executive Engineer to report, in consultation with Mr. Knox, how the defects in the present building can best be remedied.

Enclosure.

From H. T. KNOX, Esq., Acting District Judge, Tanjore, to the Registrar, High Court of Judicature, Madras, dated Tanjore, 26th September 1888, No. 350.

In connection with my inspection report, I have to report now on the buildings in the district.

2. The district court-house now provides sufficient accommodation for establishments. But the record-rooms are nearly full. The area cannot be utilised fully because the construction renders the inner room very dark and the position of windows generally is such as to render it impossible to fit racks to the best advantage. An estimate is being prepared by the District Engineer for fitting one verandah with the new iron racks. When that is done, I shall be able to judge of the extent to which room may be gained by substituting them for the old wooden racks. This work must be kept steadily in hand. For, if the accommodation is not remodelled, it will be impossible to take in for more than a short time the mass of papers which pour in yearly. Allowing for destruction, as each year goes over, there is a large residuum of addition.

3. The District Munsif's court of Tiruvádi needs only a new compound fence. In connection with it, and with the new courts at Kumbakónam, I have to draw attention to serious defects in the plan of the court-rooms in these designs. The part designed for the bench is enclosed by other parts of the building, and is too dark for reading or writing as soon as light begins to fade and in cloudy weather. All the light is on the end intended for the public, and the Judge is left in the dark. This remark does not apply to the upper room at Kumbakónam because it gets an upper light, but it does to the lower room. I have had to ask the Executive Engineer to place the bench dais at the light end of the room. The point of light for the bench should be carefully studied in future plans.

4. The new buildings at Kumbakónam will probably be finished by Christmas. The courts at Kumbakónam will then have good accommodation, including the Sub-Judge's, which is in the old civil court.

* * * *

9. The Negapatam Sub-Judge and District Munsif are very badly housed. The St. Joseph's College, which on paper provided excellent accommodation, proves in fact unsuitable for our purposes and must be supplemented and considerably altered. These courts demand the first attention.

10. The sub-court room is in the nave of the old chapel. It has no verandahs and is burning hot when the sun shines on its exposed walls, as is the case at Negapatam, except during a few rainy days. For the present an estimate has been made for a thatched pandal all round it and round the room at the east end. Some permanent verandah must be put up. The character of that verandah will to some extent depend on whether the room is to be used as a court, or a new court is to be built. The room is objectionable in its present form, because—

(1) It is very hot. This may be remedied by a good verandah.
(2) It echoes. This may perhaps be overcome.
(3) It is very narrow and is suitable only for an appeal court. It is found inconvenient when small cause suits are under trial and a large number of people are about. It is difficult to remedy this, but it may to some extent be relieved by large verandahs.
(4) The party wall behind the bench, cutting the nave off from the dome and southern transept where some clerks must sit, is carried only to spring of arch. Every word said by the clerks is heard, and every sound in the room. This constitutes a serious annoyance. It can be remedied by carrying up the wall. But then the room behind will be so dark, it is already too dark, that it will be abandoned as a clerks' room, except perhaps by two or three who can sit near a door.

11. The proper course is to build a new court-room with private room for the Sub-Judge and the same for the District Munsif, one above the other, to be placed close by the chapel on its north side, with certain consequent arrangements for a passage through the transepts to the main college building. The present court-room can be used as a clerks' room, the clerks' room to the west can be used for an amalgamated copyists' room, and all the inconveniences which I have got to detail can be remedied. The party wall now darkening space under dome could be removed and a railing or grating substituted to let in light.

12. The clerks' room to the west is very hot and close. It needs a good verandah all round, the floor to be raised to the level of the floor of the chapel one step, the windows to be cut down to the ground to allow perflation.

13. The Sub-Judge's copyists work in an exposed verandah. It is a most improper arrangement, but no other arrangement is possible.

14. The District Munsif's court has but one good window just behind him which lets in light but also a great deal of heat, too much of both for his comfort. The room is blocked with pillars and has no ventilation. A passage down the building along side it gives rise to a good deal of noise.

15. It might be better if two new court rooms are built to move the District Munsif's clerks into the present Sub-Judge's court. There will then be proper space to accommodate all establishments.

16. The alternative is to make the best we can of what must always be very bad accommodation by minor alterations and improvements. But the alternative is an uncommonly bad one. Of course, if the money cannot be found for proper courts we must do without them. I beg for orders whether I shall have estimates prepared for a new building, which I judge from cost of the new room for the District Munsif of Maunárgudi to be likely to amount to Rs. 8,000, or shall do the best I can to adapt and improve existing accommodation I shall have in either case to meet the Executive Engineer and settle with him the details. The latter course will certainly be the cheap and not pleasant one.

2. With reference to para. 2 of the letter from the Registrar, High Court, it is observed that the District Munsif's court at Tiruvádi appears to have been completed in 1883-84, and that the estimate for the Kumbakónam court-house was sanctioned in 1885, while the present type designs for such buildings were approved * and circulated in 1887. The Government in the Public Works Department are not aware that similar complaints as regards light have been made with respect to court-houses constructed on the existing type designs, and inquiries on this point will be made in the Judicial Department.
