For orders.

Captain Lindley has applied for leave for 2 months under para 602 to enable him to pass the examination for Military promotion in accordance with the rules of the Service. With the view of enabling him to study for this examination he was permitted in 2140C, dated 2d May 1889, to take charge of the Bangalore Sub Division in June last which permitted him at the same time to attend the Garrison Class there. Captain, now Lieut. Colonel, A. C. Smith was allowed to do the same, and passed the necessary examination. It is not known whether Captain Lindley made as good use of his opportunities as that officer. Apparently not from the fact that he asks for 2 months leave for independent study.

from

The Department is under-officered as it is owing to the distress in Ganjam and the absence on furlough of several Executive Engineers, and it would embarrass the Superintending Engineer V Circle still further if leave were granted Captain Lindley at this juncture. Owing to the neglect of the Executive Engineer and the Sub-divisional officers of the Presidency Division, there was a very large lapse of funds in that Division last official year.

Captain Lindley is not likely to be promoted to Major for at least a couple of years, and as he has expressed his intention to take furlough next March or April, he cannot do better than go through the course at Chatham to qualify for promotion. He has not accepted continuous service and from his record attached it will be seen that he has taken leave on all available occasions. His heart is not in the work, and I do not recommend that the privilege of obtaining leave for 2 months on full pay be accorded him on this occasion.
