The amount of Rs 2720 is divided as follows:—

Improvements to Distt. Munsiff's court house —	Rs	520
Do. to Sub court house —	"	2,200
Total	Rs	2,720

The estimate is treated as supplemental to those already sanctioned amounting to Rs 56,598 for the purchase, improvements and repairs of the college building.

The report accompanying the

the estimate explains the nature of the improvements required in the above mentioned court houses & which will be as follows:—

(a) Providing sky lights and ventilators and alterations to windows between Court and retiring room in the Distt. Munsiff's Court.

(b) Providing a new Verandah round the Sub Judge's Court room, a glazed partition between the Court room and Clerks room to shut out the noise of the latter room.

(c) Substitution of doors for 4 windows & some roof ventilators in the Sub Judge's court.

The scantlings of common & Jack rafters provided in the estimate for the Bengal roof to new Verandah for the Sub Judge's Court are 2"×9"=(18") each & for Hip rafters 2"×10½"=(21") and are very thin in thickness & excessive in height & per-haps they may become twisted after the roof is completed. Subject to your approval the scantlings

× Common rafters = 14 ft long.
× Hip rafters = 19½ ft long.
Vide detail estimate of Sub Judge's Court.

Scantlings may be altered to proper sizes i.e. common & jack rafters 3"×6"=(18") & for Hip rafters 3"×7"=(21"), these scantlings look better & safe & there will be no differences in cubic contents of the wood work & in the estimated cost. The Standard specification is put up for reference, please see the scantlings where marked in red pencil in the "Table III for scantlings for Rafters & Hips in couples for common tile roof". For the scantlings of rafters for tile roof, the item one above the line marked in red pencil in the Standard specification should be taken, but there are no separate scantlings given for the roof timbers of the Bengal terrace.

The rates are fair.

The contingencies & Petty-supervision are charged each at 5 percents.—

The plans & estimate have been countersigned by the District Judge & approved in the Judl. Deptt. —
