Referring to your No 2919 of dated 2nd ultimo, I have the honour to forward herewith accountants explanatory memo regarding the delay in submitting the accounts for the quarter for July last.
As regards para 01 I have already pointed out that as the Accountant is not now responsible for the delay in forwarding

preparation of the pay bills and travelling allowance bills and as they are prepared entirely by the Cashier he is not correct in stating that he has lost an assistant. He has lost the Cashier's service to a certain extent because formerly the Cashier had time to assist the Accountant. Now that according to recent orders of the Examiner the Cashier has to enter every lascar's name in the Cash book as receiving pay his work is greatly increased.

3 As regards (2) I am not aware that the Examiner has decided any thing of the kind.

4 As regards (3) I insist on all applications for leave coming thro' the Manager. This is, I believe, what the Accountant means by personal matters. I also said that applications from clerks under the Accountant's orders should come in the first place thro' the Accountant.

question of a clerk in the Account branch without applying to the Accountant. It is utterly impossible to get on with the Accountant. He has requested the Manager not to enter his room, so there can be no verbal communication between them. Hence the writing of Chits, which generally in the end have to come thro' me. The consequence is that my time is wasted besides that of the Manager and the Accountant, whereas the matter might have been settled in a few words. In tending the Accountant a file lately I picked out the papers he wanted, placed them at the top of the file, and called his attention to the fact. He replied complaining because I had sent him the whole file, which happened to be a large one.

5. The Accountant's explanation for the delay in the submission of the accounts for July is not a correct explanation at all. It is simply a ploy to hang his imaginary grievances on the real explanation, probably is that accounts were received late from Subordinate, as is frequently the case. I think as I have already stated in my No 1319d that the date of submission of the accounts of this Division might be postponed. The date for submission of the accounts of the Eastern Division Godavari is the 30th, whereas for this Division the date is the 26th. Considering that the Project works in this District are in full swing and that in the possible. As regards closing office it is usually based on the Manager's recommendation on the proposed holidays. If the Accountant were to represent that his branch of the office should be closed I would take his representation to consideration, but as far as I remember he has never done so since the Manager assumed charge. The clerks under the Accountant have orders to attend to the calls of other heads in the office without reference to the Accountant, and similarly the clerks under the Manager and the draftsman must attend to the calls of the Accounts branch without reference to their superiors. It is simply ridiculous that a clerk in the Correspondence branch cannot ask a who should state whether he recommended the leave or not. As however the Accountant refuses to take any notice of such applications (on the ground I believe that they pass subsequently thru the Manager) I am obliged to decide on them without reference to him. It is not true that I send all instructions and papers thru the Manager to the Accountant. Letters when first received go thru the Manager, as the latter is the head of the Correspondence branch and must register the letters. That instruction if the Accountant refers to I do not know. As regards papers I constantly get them from the Manager & send them to the Accountant myself in order to diminish the friction between the two as much as Godanari they are nearly finished. I should doubt if the accounts for the Eastern Division are heavier than for this Division. If they are not I would suggest making the 29th the day for the receipt of accounts of this Division in Madras. In any case I think some postponement advisable.

I have the honor to be

Accountant's Explanation for delay

3226 in sending Accounts for July 1889 3226

- (1) The number of assistants allowed to him now is only four (against five he had up to end of March 1889) the same number allowed in Krishna Western and Gudi-vada Divisions where work is comparatively less heavy when compared with the work of this Division. The Accountant is therefore very much handicapped.
- (2) The fair copying of monthly accounts and other periodicals is has not yet been transferred to correspond section as lately decided by the Examiner in his letter No 327 dated 4th July 1889.
- (3) The present Head Clerk who is junior to the Accountant in Departmental rank, pay, service and responsibilities is made office manager. In this connection the Executive Engineer placed all personal matters of the clerks in his hands for disposal through him. He sends all instructions and papers through him to the Accountant also & he refuses to pass even a pack of candles on Accountant's initials to work at nights when exigencies of the duty demand, and closes office on Manager's recommendation without giving consideration to the state of business &c. The checks have orders through the Manager to attend to the calls of the other heads in the office whenever they are required without reference to the Accountant.

(4) Under the above circumstances the Accountant in this Division is now brought to a very helpless and difficult position. He has no influence or command over any clerks & besides he is himself practically made a subordinate to the Manager. The Accountant is therefore reluctantly feel obliged to say, after 17 years service as accountant in the Department, that he is unable to account for for the delay. Until the above difficulties are removed and the relationship between the relative positions of the Manager & other heads are systematically arranged, the Accountant is greatly

Sorry

Sorry that he has no other alternative than to resign up all his responsibilities for the punctual submission

3. The postponement of the unavoidable as judged by Accountant Jeyram Pillai is now on his way to join the Kistna Eastern Division, and I would suggest taking no further notice of the matter.

2. If it is found that there is any difficulty in submitting accounts punctually after Jeyaram Pillai has been there a few months, the question of postponing the date of submission might be considered.

3. The conduct of the other accountant (Jagannatham Partulu) will be carefully observed in any division to which he may be posted hereafter but there is evidently considerable friction in the office where he now is, and all things considered it is hardly fair to judge him by what has happened there. He has always done very well before.
