Sir!

I have the honor to solicit the favor of your obtaining the sanction of the Secretary of State for India in Council to my leave being commuted into furlough
for 22 months.

My Pay Certificate shews that this can be done, and before leaving India
I obtained the permission of the Madras Government to extend my leave if I found it desirable to do so.

2. The note in your last pay certificate though it states that your present leave can be commuted into furlough under the 1868 Regulations, does not show what period is at your credit, and some evidence on this point should be supplied, if possible.

With reference to your letter M 389 dated 15th January 1889, I have the honor to inform you that I have no document conveying the assent of ^{the} Government of Madras to my leave being extended, but, as the Secretary to that Government, I ascertained, before taking leave, that there would be no objection to my obtaining the extension, and I have, by last mail, written to the Right Honorable the Governor of Madras to inform him I was applying to the Secretary of State for extension of leave.

2. As requested in the 2nd para. of your letter under reply, I have the honor to forward a statement of services supplied to me by the Adjutant General, Madras, showing that that on the 30th September 1887 I had a balance of furlough at credit of 2
