GOVERNMENT OF MADRAS.

PUBLIC DEPARTMENT.

Read—the following paper:—

Despatch from Her Majesty's Secretary of State for India, to His Excellency the Right Honorable the Governor-General of India in Council, dated India Office, London, the 11th October 1888, No. 109, Public.

I forward, for the information of your Excellency in Council, copy of a letter * from Mr. W. S. Foster, late of the Madras Civil Service, asking whether there is any objection to his wife accepting certain presents from the Rani of Pithápuram, and of the reply † which I have caused to be sent to him.

* 27th August 1888.

† 4th October 1888.

Enclosures.

From W. S. FOSTER, Esq., late Madras Civil Service, to Her Majesty's Under Secretary of State for India, dated Belmont House, Hoddesdon, Herts, the 27th August 1888.

I beg to inform you that my wife has received some things (shawls, ring, &c.,) from the Rani of Pithápuram, in the Godávari District, Madras Presidency. I do not myself see the least objection to our receiving them, but, before doing so, I think it right to inquire whether I could be considered as acting contrary to the spirit of any rule of Government about receiving presents. I was for some years Collector of the Godávari District, during which time I knew the Rajah well, and my wife also knew the Rani.

2. It will be three years in December since I retired from the Civil Service, and left India for good. The things have come insured by the Parcel Post, and the declaration gives the value as Rs. 500 or £50. The Rajah, I can most certainly say, has not sent these things from any other motive than pure kindness, and I should regret the necessity of being so discourteous to him as to decline to accept them: I had no previous intimation of his intention of sending them. I may mention that the Rani has before sent my wife a small case of scents, and my wife has sent her a small present, probably about the same value. But the value of this present, though not of much account to the Rajah, is far more than I should care to send in return. I should, therefore, be much obliged if you would kindly tell me whether there would be any objection on the part of Government to our receiving them.

From J. A. GODLEY, Esq., Her Majesty's Under Secretary of State for India, to W. S. FOSTER, Esq., late Madras Civil Service, dated India Office, the 4th October 1888, No. 1295 J. & P.

I am directed to inform you that Viscount Cross has considered in Council your letter of the 27th ultimo, asking whether there is any objection to your wife accepting certain presents from the Rani of Pithápuram.

2. Although strictly speaking the rules on this subject apply only to officers in the actual service of the Government, the Secretary of State in Council thinks that it is clearly objectionable that retired officers should receive presents. If such a practice were to be approved, it might obviously lead to the violation of the spirit if not the letter of the law and rules, and to aspersions on the character of public officers. While, therefore, Viscount Cross fully accepts your assurances in respect of the present case and thanks you for having reported the circumstances to him, he would strongly advise that your wife should decline to accept this present.
