The concluding clause of code para 1742 lays down, that the action to be taken on the occurrence of differences between the balance of cash as actually counted and that as shown in a disbursers cash book will depend on the nature of each case.

2. There is no doubt whatever about the proper action to be taken in both the cases contemplated in the code but the wording of the code suggests that the action is uncertain, and this leads to inquiries and references from Executive Engineers; it seems desirable therefore to lay down in the code what the action should be, and I accordingly submit for the approval of Government a draft standing order laying down what is necessary.
