Note by the Ag Chief Engineer for Irrigation

Since the removal of the Construction or Drawing branch of this office upstairs in December 1887, much inconvenience is experienced for want of a special messenger for taking papers &c of that branch to and from the office downstairs the five messengers sanctioned for this office being insufficient to attend to other duties. The time of the draughtsmen is often wasted by their being obliged to carry papers. The inconvenience will become greater in future as the services of three lascars of the Tank Restoration Office will be dispensed with and the employment of the punkapuller of the Construction branch who was occasionally employed on carrying papers will shortly cease. It is not possible to detach for duty in the Construction branch one of the present messengers on whom has recently been imposed the additional duty of watching the Office at nights. It is therefore recommended that the employment of an additional messenger on Rs 6 per mensem may be sanctioned for this office. 2
