638. — The widows and children of a deceased soldier are allowed free conveyance from their station to the port of embarkation when proceeding to their home.

When marching any portion of the way a two-bullock cart is allowed.

639. — Whenever soldiers' widows desire to remain permanently in India, and there is no objection to their doing so, a free passage by rail or travelling allowances at one anna a mile for themselves and eight pies for each child may be granted to them and their children to the station at which they may elect to reside, on the condition, however, that they forfeit all claim to a passage to England at any future period. The written consent to this effect should be forwarded by the despatching officer to the Quartermaster General of the presidency to which they proceed for record.
