OFFICE NOTE No.

To

W.

With reference to item(8) of my office note No. 3467 of 13th. June 1890, I beg that Government may be moved to lay down some rule as to the disposal of the military papers of non-commissioned officers promoted to warrant rank. Under P.W.D. Code para 733 the military papers of a non-commissioned officer & soldier employed in the P.W. Department are filed in the office of the Executive Engineer of the division to which he may be attached and transferred along with him from office to office, but there is no rule in the P.W. Code as to what should be done with these military papers in the event of a non-commissioned officer being promoted to warrant rank.

2. Under code para 713 a non-commissioned officer before promotion to warrant rank has to sign a declaration to the effect that if discharged or retired his claims to pension shall be settled according to Indian Regulations; and from that time forward his military papers cease to be of any use unless he should be remanded to the ranks under Army Regulations India, volume II, Part II, para 2784 & then it may very probably be found that they have been mislaid.

3. In order therefore to ensure that the papers shall be forthcoming if they should ever be required, it seems desirable that the military papers of non-commissioned officers promoted to warrant grade should be kept in safe custody in some central office. From para 2750 Army Regulations India, volume II, part II, it would appear that such papers are to be retained & kept up by the Chief Engineer P.W.D. and I would therefore suggest that it be ruled that the military papers should be sent by the Executive Engineers concerned to the Chief Engineer for safe custody. They would be sent through the Examiner, who should see that they are obtained when required.

4. Please move Government to pass orders on the subject.
