on account of numerous gauges issued from the P. W. Workshops for the Collector of Bangalore. These were sent to the Meteorological reporter to Government in June 1889 for approval and transmission to the Collector and were returned to the P. W. Workshops by the Meteorological reporter, on the 4th instant in order that the rims may be enlarged to suit the glass measures in store.

The General Superintendent of the P. W.
Workshops states that the rims of the gauges vary from 4.684 to 4.687 or only .003 less than the Standard gauge and that it would be less expensive to obtain suitable glasses than to alter the rims which might possibly in alteration be made a little too large. The General Superintendent proposes to settle this point in communication with the board of Revenue and the submission of the Voucher for this item will under the circumstances be delayed.

I have the honor to be
