From

J. C. Larminie Esqr.
Executive Engineer

To.

The Chief Engineer
P. W. D.
Madras

Sir,

I would invite your consideration of that rule of the Civil Engineers' Provident Fund, under which the amount deposited cannot be refunded until the death or retirement from the service, of the Depositor and to request that you will be so good as to recommend that, under the following exceptional circumstances, the amount now to my credit in the fund may be paid to me as soon as possible possible.

The Fund was instituted (2) with the intention of insuring that all Civil Engineers in Government employment should lay by a proportion of their pay, against their retirement & no doubt in a great many instances the existence of the Fund will prove a great boon & advantage later on.

Permission was also given to (3) pay in to the Fund any sums desired in addition to the monthly percentage of pay and accordingly shortly after the opening of the Fund I, (very unwisely as I now see) paid in a considerable proportion of my available money.

My balance at the end of (4) last year was ~~Rs~~ 11281, but for some time past, fearing a further fall in exchange and

and not wishing to have any more money out of reach of remittance to England, I discontinued further contributions to the Fund, as under the rules, contributions were not compulsory on Engineers of a certain standing.

(5) The main idea of the Fund was to insure that men of an improvident disposition should lay by a certain proportion of their incomes for their old age or for the benifit of their families in the event of death.

(6) But, all men are not improvident, & the possession of a little money does not necessarily imply that it will be at once squandered, so I would submit that, to men of a certain age & standing, the objects of the Fund can in no way be interfered

unsecured until by a refund of their deposits.

In my own particular (7) case, I do not see much prospect of being able to serve for many more years.
Exchange is now rising & I am anxious while it is up, to remit all I possess to England.
It does not seem probable that Exchange will remain at a high rate for any great length of time. So, should I be compelled to wait for say three or four years, I run a great chance of suffering a heavy loss and thus, I shall lose far more than gain by the Provident Fund & the very object for which it was instituted will be impaired (unless Government could guarrantee remittance to England at some fixed rate)

pense,
as a special case the amount now to my credit may be refunded, as soon as possible

I have the honor to be
Sir
Your Most Obedient Servant.

The rules as regards withdrawals from the Civil Engineers' Provident Fund will be found in appendix B para 6 of the P.W.D.Code. The case of Mr. Larminie does not come under those rules. Sanction of the Government of India is therefore necessary to the withdrawal.

Sir-

With reference to your No 2459 P dated the 13th September 1890 forwarding, for consideration, Copy of a letter from Mr J.C. Larmine, Executive Engineer, in which he asks to be permitted to withdraw the amount now to his credit in the Civil Engineers' Provident Fund for remittance to England, I am directed to point out that the rules of the Fund do not provide for the permanent withdrawal of a deposit even by a voluntary subscriber and that the Government of India does not consider that it would be in

cordance with ... principles on which the
... was established to permit any departure
... this rule. Under the circumstances Mr.
Carmine's request cannot be granted.

I have the honor to be
Sir
Your most obedient servant.
