PROCEEDINGS OF THE MADRAS GOVERNMENT.

Read the following paper:—

From the Surgeon General with the Government of Madras, dated 1st April 1890, No 297.

3. With regard to the heavy mortality amongst the female patients in the Madras Asylum - referred to in para 3 - it may be mentioned, that during 1889 improvements were carried out in the drainage of the female enclosure which have already had some influence in reducing the tendency to bowel complaints. The site of that part of the asylum is low lying and damp and when the asylum was being built buildings were erected there contrary to my advice as Superintendent. In my opinion the whole area of the female enclosure should be thoroughly drained so as to prevent all risks of water lodgthere during the monsoon. It will also be necessary to make provision for the carrying away of the sewage, which on emerging from the enclosure falls into a common drain where it lodges and sinks into the earth. The same is the case as regards the main drain from the male side of the Asylum. It also creates a nuisance, and measures should be taken to provide for the carrying away of the sewage of both by means of a masonry drain. The remarks in the latter part of para 4 have been noted and will be attended to.
