From

M. Ratnasabhapathy Pillay.
Registrar of Assurances.
Tellierry.

To The Inspector General of Registration
Madras.

Sir

The office of the Sub Registrar of Tellierry is accommodated in a thatched building which is not at all suited for the preservation of valuable records. While I last visited the place on inspection duty I sent for the owner of the building and asked him to get it tiled, but he replied that he was unable to do so on account of poverty. I then enquired if any better building or tiled house was available for rent and learnt that none was available.

2. It was reported that the roof leaked like a sieve during the last monsoon and on a certain day when the rain was very heavy water got into the record room through the plank ceiling and damaged one of the Sh. mirahs. Fortunately the records were however not affected as the Sub Registrar having been at the spot just then, removed them at once from that Sh. mirah and secured them in another place where it did not leak.

3. I may also bring to your notice that while

I was inspecting the office at Mannantoddy last month one of the thatched houses closely caught fire suddenly. As it however happened during the day and as the Revenue and Police officers whose offices were very near were able to go to the scene at once the fire was extinguished before much damage was committed. The registration office at Mannantoddy is however located in a tiled building.

4. It is therefore absolutely necessary that the valuable registration records should be preserved in proper tiled houses as otherwise they are at the risk of being completely destroyed at any time either by fire or by water. And where there are no tiled houses available for rent as at Nattumannur and Kuttinadi it is but desirable that public buildings should be constructed without any delay.

5. The Nattumannur office has been doing well since its creation in October 1882. The registrations and collections aggregate on an average to 3157 and Rs. 2659 per annum. The net savings to its credit is Rs. 5248 from October 1882 to close of March 1889. One half of this savings may very well be spent in providing a suitable building for holding the office.

years	Registrations	Collections
1886-87	3275	2655
1887-88	3012	2579
1888-89	3185	2744
Total	9472	7978
Average per year	3157	2659

6. In these circumstances I have the honor to request that you will be good enough to obtain the sanction of the Government for the construction of a departmental building after the standard design and to place at once as a special case the requisite funds at the disposal of the D.P.W. off. so that the work may be taken up as early as possible in April next and completed as early as possible.

I have the honor to be
Sir

Your most obedient Servant
/ Signed / M. Ratnasabhapathy Pillay
Registrar.

J. No. 744, 7th March 1890.

Giddalur, Kurnool District.

Submitted to Government with the recommendation that sanction may be granted for the preparation of plan and estimate for a tiled building on the standard design for the office of the Sub-registrar, Nattumannur.

2. The Nattumannur office was opened on the 1st October 1882 and it is not only self supporting but also yields a considerable surplus.
