With reference to G.O.No. 504 W.
dated 20th. February 1891 communicating orders of Government in the Revenue Department prohibiting the re-employment in the public service of M.V. Muthusami Iyer late Inspector Salt and Abkari Department and similar orders of Government that are received, I beg to inquire whether it is considered part of the Examiner's duties to watch and bring to notice the re-entertainment of individuals whose employment has been prohibited, or whether the responsibility in such cases rests entirely on the officer making the appointment.

To W.

As regards individuals whose previous employment has been in the Madras Presidency, the only practical difficulty would be the getting of a list of individuals whose re-employment has already been prohibited. The Accountant General Madras tells me that he has no such list. In the case of individuals coming from other Provinces, no effective check could be applied, except when they are known to have been previously employed in such other Province in which case enquiry could be made if it should seem necessary. The first appointment certificate and the temporary service declaration form (Forms M.150 A and 150 C) might however be made more explicit, if considered desirable.

OFFICE NOTE.

Your office note
No. 2279 dated 16 April 1891.

Your suggestion that the first appointment certificate and the temporary service declaration might be made more explicit, practically means that the responsibility for the re-employment of dismissed officials should rest with the appointing officer, who must in most cases, accept the statement of the Candidate -

The forms already provide for a statement of the circumstances in which last employment under Govt. was terminated, and if the candidate wishes to deceive, it is not likely that he will be prevented doing so by any more explicit question -

It does not seem practicable to maintain a complete list of dismissed officials whose re-employment has been prohibited, & no further action appears necessary.

J.H.S. 23.4

I go so far but I certainly think a list (it can't possibly be complete but still be as complete as possible) of dismissed officials whose re-employment is prohibited should be maintained by the Govt.

I do not think that this should be immediately attempted but such a list should be made as far as possible now from records, and hereafter maintained.

Do Do N.E. No. 2279 of 16 April 1891.

A register of individuals whose employment has been prohibited will be maintained by the Examiner. The register being made as complete as possible to start with, there will be no difficulty thereafter in keeping it current.

2. The form of first appointment certificate seems sufficiently explicit, but if the Examiner has any change to propose, he can bring it forward.
