READ—the following letter from H. A. STUART, Esq., C.S., Superintendent of Census Operations, Madras, to the Secretary to Government, Revenue Department, dated Madras, 31st December 1890, No. 617 :—

In continuation of my letter, No. 581, dated 29th December 1890, I have the honor to report that I have just heard from the Superintendent of Census Operations, Bombay, that the High Court of that Province is to be closed for three days at the time of the census and that the clerks will be employed as census officers.

ORDER—dated 6th January 1891, No. 7, Revenue.

Census, No. 1.

His Excellency the Governor in Council accepts the proposal of the Superintendent of Census Operations that the work of officials employed as enumerators in the town of Madras shall be so arranged that they will be absent from their ordinary duties for three days only, viz., February 25th—27th inclusive. The preliminary record must be prepared by the ordinary Municipal staff, supplemented by paid enumerators where that is necessary.

2. The Government agrees with Mr. Stuart that the assistance offered by the offices specified by him is insufficient and the heads of those offices will be requested to place more of their employés at the disposal of the President of the Municipal Commission. Now that the period of the absence from office of men employed as enumerators is limited to three days, during which time the offices will be closed to the public, there ought to be no difficulty in complying with the repeated orders of the Government on this matter.

3. The Honorable the Judges of the High Court will be addressed by the Judicial Department on the subject of closing the High Court.

REVENUE DEPARTMENT.

READ—the following letter from H. A. STUART, Esq., C.S., Superintendent of Census Operations, to the Secretary to Government, Revenue Department, dated Madras, 1st January 1891, No. 3-A. :—

I have the honor to request that the officers of all departments who are in camp on the night of the census—26th February 1891—may be directed to see that they and all clerks and servants who accompany them are duly enumerated.

2. If an officer expects to be absent from his head-quarters on that night, he should take with him a copy of the house-holder's schedule, if he is a person to whom this form of schedule has been supplied, and he should fill this in for himself and his family but not for his servants on the morning of the 27th February, and hand it to the enumerator of the block in which he is then encamped. Instead of the house number the word "camp" might be entered.

3. The clerks and servants should be enumerated on the night of the 26th February 1891 by the ordinary enumerator. I shall be glad if Government will direct all officers to satisfy themselves that this has been done.

ORDER—dated 7th January 1891, No. 12, Revenue.

Census, No. 2.

The suggestions in paragraphs 2 and 3 of the letter read above are approved.

GOVERNMENT OF MADRAS.

REVENUE DEPARTMENT.

READ—the following letter from H. A. STUART, Esq., C.S., Superintendent of Census Operations, Madras, to the Secretary to Government, Revenue Department, dated Madras, 29th December 1890, No. 581 :—

I have the honor to forward, for the consideration and orders of Government, the accompanying copies of a letter and statement which I have received from the Vice-President of the Madras Municipality. The statement shows the number of clerks which heads of offices in Madras city are willing to spare for duty in connection with the forthcoming census.

2. In the offices from which replies have been received to the President's request for assistance, there are 1,719 clerks on salaries below Rs. 200 a month and the number of clerks promised for census work is 690. In many cases the assistance offered is all that could be expected or desired, and this, I contend, shows that help can be given if a loyal endeavour is made to comply with the wishes of the Government. Thus the Accountant-General offers 63 out of 182 clerks and the Examiner of Public Works Accounts 71 out of 94, but the Pay Examiner will give only 12 out of 84 and the Examiner of Commissariat Accounts only 6 out of 62. The same disparity between the number of clerks employed and the number offered for enrolment as census officers is noticeable in the case of most of these Military establishments.

3. I regret to find that the Hon'ble the Chief Justice is unable to allow any clerk on the High Court establishment to be deputed to assist in taking the census. On the occasion of the last census the High Court was closed for two days, and both here and in Bombay clerks were lent for census work. I understand from the Census Commissioner that a similar course is to be taken in Bombay in February next.

4. The unwillingness of heads of offices to give more assistance to the Municipality may be, in part, due to the fact that no definite time has been specified as the period for which the services of the clerks will be required. I propose, therefore, that these enumerators should not be taken away from their work for more than three days, viz., 25th—27th February inclusive. That is to say, they would be required only for the final census. On the 25th they would be instructed in the way to fill up the schedule and would be shown their blocks. On the morning of the 26th they would go round their blocks again and ask for such further instructions and explanations as they might require; at night they would take the census, and on the following day they would prepare the abstracts of their enumeration books.

5. The Government has already sanctioned this course in certain cases (G.O., dated 15th December 1890, No. 1016) and it would probably be preferred by all heads of offices at the Presidency, who might then be required to give more assistance than they have at present promised. I append a statement of the offices which, in my
