* Berhampore. 1 Extract from the crime Register of the Town Inspector.

From these papers it would appear that neither the cash chest nor its contents, stolen, have yet been discovered, but the Superintendent of Police states, in the letter referred to above, that the Inspector is unremitting in his enquiries, & still has hopes of detecting the case. I have dismissed the messenger Chittanna as he cannot be acquitted of negligence.

One, Medam Chittanna, a messenger attached to the Executive Engineers office, Belgaum reports that on the night of 12th Instant, he slept on a wooden box at the verandah of the office bungalow, that some thieves entered the bungalow by removing the nail in the door, of the chain, and then opening the door and stole therefrom the iron safe containing the property mentioned in the margin. Myself, Head Constable Nos. 489, 615 and 920 and some constables went to the scene of offence and inspected it. The Bungalow is located apart from the Down, near a killock, and people hardly more about it. The nail in the door, of the Chain, was taken out by force and the chain removed. The padlock remained in the chain. There were marks of the iron safe having been removed from the room and placed outside the Bungalow down the verandah.

There were also foot-^{prints} of men having moved together there.
The messenger Sattanana states that he slept on a box in the same verandah separated by a cross wall.
The place where this man slept is only 6 or 7 yards from the place where the marks of men and the iron-safe were printed on the Earth.
The man says that he slept at the Bungalow. From these marks and from the weight of the iron safe and other circumstances, I consider there must have been tremendous noise in the act of committing the offence at the verandah. It is a matter of extreme wonder why the messenger did not get up when there was such a noise under his very nose if he 222

were really at the Bungalow sleeping the box. The thieves must have taken at least $1\frac{1}{2}$ hours time to remove the chest from the room and take it away. All these circumstances led me to believe that the messenger must have been either absent from the Bungalow or taken part in or connived at the commission of the offence. The iron safe cannot be easily moved even by 6 men and can be carried only by a Jaddi, if not, by a bandy. I traced the chest was taken by the side of the verandah where the messenger was said to be sleeping. I examined the accountant, Seshacham Mudliar. He states that he and all his office staff were in the office till 7 P.M., then closed the office, locked it, and went away when the iron safe was safe in the office, and that on the next morning the messenger reported the occurrence to him. He hears Chak corroborate the accountant. I examined Ghung He states that he is the Cash keeper and the Custodian of the Key of the Cash Chest, that a couple of days previous to the commission of the offence, there was in the iron safe only Rs 15 or 20, that he got this money for expenses as the Engineer had to go to Camp, that on the day of the offence he opened the Cash Chest and took only gammas, that the money lost was the balance in it, that when he went, he gave key to the Chest and went home along with the other office clerks, by 7 P.M. and that on the next morning the messenger reported the occurrence to him. From the foot steps, I traced the way in which the thieves took the Cash Chest and found the piece that covers the key-hole of the iron safe broke outside the Compound fence i.e., within 50 yards from the verandah where the Chest was first removed from the bungalow. From there, I could not find the traces, as the Earth was full of grass. At this place, the iron safe was attempted to be broken by the thieves. From noon till eve, myself my Head Constables and some 25 Constables searched all the tanks the hillock and other places in the vicinity of the bungalow and did not recover the iron safe. In the night, I sent about 15 men and made them lie down about the tanks and other places to watch if the thieves would come again to the chest if they had ^{brings} secured it in any of these places. 322

The whole of this day, myself, the S.H.O. and some Constables were engaged in searching for the iron safe lost in this case. But no clue has been as yet obtained.

15-9-91

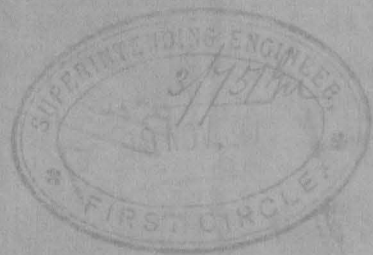

On the evening of this day, I went to the Executive Engineer's office and spoke to the Engineer about the case. I also searched some places with Constables. From there I went to Goyilundi, made inquiries and returned in the night. I could not get any real clue.

12-10-91

Myself and Head Constable No 489 went to Goyilundi and Bhavinipore, the District of which having been suspected blue ^{constable} ~~safer~~ in the case, watched them and could not get the real clue as to where the Cash Chest has been secreted.
