decision, I am to remark that the Commander-in-Chief understands the site recently selected * for an armoury, magazine and quarters for the Sergeant Instructor attached to the South Indian Railway Volunteer Rifle Corps at Cuddalore is on railway land.

* Vide correspondence transferred to this office with Military Department No. 510 of 23rd January 1891.

6. As regards the storage of ammunition, &c., from Army Regulations, India, Vol. IX, Section XII, it is understood that, as a general rule, at stations where a safe magazine protected by a European guard exists, the reserve ammunition will be stored therein, but should a magazine be required at any time expressly for use by a Volunteer Corps, the head-quarters of which may be at a distance from a station in which British troops are quartered, I am to request information as to how the funds for the erection of such a building are to be provided.
