Extract from Letter dated 12th October 1893
from the Engineer, Trinity House.

In accordance with the request contained in your letter of the 2nd instant, S 10908, I inspected
yesterday at the Works of Mess^{rs} Chance Brothers & Co., the two damaged door panels
of the 3rd Order Flashing Light for Madras Lau Courts. In one of the panels, a central lens and four prisms (viz N^{os} 2, 3, 7 and 8)
have been replaced by new and in the other panel the loose prisms have been carefully re-set. Gun-metal strips have also been placed across the panels, to prevent the recurrence of a similar accident and six additional strips have been prepared, and will be forwarded to Madras for fitting and fixing to the other panels now there, the requisite instructions for which should be given to the local Authorities. The work has been satisfactorily completed by Mess^{rs} Chance, and can be shipped at any time, on the necessary directions being received by the Firm.

So far as I can judge, the injury to the panels was not due to any fault in their construction.

Letter from Mess^{rs} Chance Bros.
& Co. of 16th October 1893.

We have to acknowledge your letter of the 14th instant N^o S. 11498.

In reply we have to state that the two panels of 3rd order Apparatus for the Madras Law Courts are packed in two cases each weighing 2.1.14 ^{cut} Gross and measuring 46 x 31 x 17 inches.

We are sending 3 lbs of cement for fixing any loose glasses in the panels retained in India.

The six brass strips for the six panels not returned have been carefully prepared for fixing. Screw holes have been drilled and countersunk, and a supply of screws is sent with a few spare ones. Two taps for tapping the holes for screws in the panel frames are also sent, and a small wrench.

The authorities will be able to fix the six strips from an examination of the two panels stripped by us, without the assistance of a drawing or any further written instructions.

Letter from the Engineer, Trinity House,
8/19th October 1893.

In reply to your letter of the 17th instant (S.11604) I beg to acquaint you as follows:-

The local authorities will not require any detailed instructions for fitting the loose gunmetal stays to the panels now at Madras. They must be fitted precisely similar to those on the panels inspected by me.

Care must be taken, in executing the work, that the same be not obliterated.
