PROCEEDINGS OF THE MADRAS GOVERNMENT.

Read the following Proceedings of the Board of Revenue (Land Revenue) d/13 February 1893 No. 1055 in on the following letter from the Ag. Collectors of South Arcot d/

3^d February 1893, Reference on Reg. No. 496 Eng. -

I have the honor to request that the following representation may be laid before the Board as regards the Sub-Collector's Office at Induraman.

2. The buildings at Induraman are situated on the bank of the large drinking water tank of the town. Going along the bank from North to South there are first the stables attached to the Sub-Collector's house, then his bungalow, then his servants' quarters, then a Court house, and then his Office. Owing to the narrowness of the land, the buildings are all long and narrow. Mr. Sale neglected all these buildings and they were all in a bad state of disrepair till recently. The bungalow has in this year been put in thorough order, and beyond that the house is a very inconvenient one. The Sub-Collector has now nothing to complain of.

3. The Sub-Collector's Court house and Office were also in a very unsatisfactory state. The Court house has been repaired and is fairly commodious. Its proximity to the Sub-Collector's house makes it unnecessary for him to have a retiring room there, and though not a very convenient building it answers its purpose fairly well.

4. As regards the Office, however, I venture to make the very strong Strong representation that something should be done. It was suggested to me more than once by Mr. Molloy that a new building is necessary. The present building is a long very low building with small windows, containing three rooms (20 x 14) (40 x 14) (61 x 14). On the brightest days the place is abominably dark and the Executive Engineer reports that when he visits the building at 8 A.M. he should not have come to try and read and write in any of the rooms. From my inspections made at different seasons and at different hours in the day, I am decidedly of opinion that something should be done at once to remedy matters. I have consulted the Executive Engineer on the matter and Mr. Davidson tells me that the present unsatisfactory state of things can be remedied without having recourse to building a new Office, which on the score of expense is to be deprecated.

The proposal is to take off the roof, raise the walls three feet throughout and provide windows 4' x 2' and to replace the existing roof by one of Mangalore tiles with planking underneath. Mr. Davidson says that in his opinion the present cracks in the walls do not make it necessary to rebuild them. The cracks will be filled up and as during the past 2 years since the building has been torn together by storm & rain, they have shown no signs of enlargement, they will probably not show again. I believe Mr. Davidson estimates the cost at about Rs. 3000, and he has already prepared the estimates.

I venture to request that the Board will represent the importance of having this building put into order as soon as possible, as I know the work is carried on now under considerable difficulties owing to the darkness of the Office. This may also to some extent account for the confusion which till recently reigned in the record room there. The scheme is economical and will save the expense of erecting a new Office.

Resolution:

Submitted for the favorable consideration of Government.

Order thereon, 6 March 1892 No 917.

The Collector's proposal which is supported by the Board of Revenue is approved and will be transferred to the Public Works Department in view to the preparation of estimates.
