Note.

5/2908

With reference to the Honble Member's note on the accompanying draft order (Current No. 8017) it is explained that borseers are only allowed one lascar each. When special Surveyors are appointed they are usually granted 6 lascars. Allowing an borseer on Survey duty 5 Special lascars thus does no more than place him on an equality with a surveyor.

Then better demands for it, more a lot of money. Can then be attached to the museum & people who have to make the surveys? I don't see any necessity for them. If special surveys were employed, they would have to be supplied with canvas;
but this is not the case here. Let them manage with their own men.
