Central Jail, Vellore to the Inspector General of Tails dated 4th May 1894, No. M. 776:—

I have the honour to acknowledge the receipt this day of the enclosed paper and hasten to supply the information required.

2. I can only give the weights of such tents as were in stock and were weighed a few days since, but from the figures given the approximate weights of other kinds of tents
may be guessed, and I can guarantee that they will not be heavier than those of the Cawnpore Mills.

Sir,

Enclosures.

With reference to G. O. No. 676 W dated 10th March 1894 I would mention that in addition to the mere cost, it is desirable to know the weight of each class of tent.

2. In former experience tents made in South India jails were of a heavy pattern, and made of ordinary native cloth and woven.

3. Those got from the Bawnpore Mills are of cloth made by modern machinery, which stands weather, while weighing much less than the old descriptions of tent cloth. This is an important matter when tents have to be carried along distance.
