It is a very fine specimen of the same as the one found at the same place in 1890 and all the same red and brown spots on the sides.

free of charge as a matter of course. But by inadvertence, these two rooms were included in the list of rooms occupied by private persons prepared for the information of the W.P. D. This has led to a demand for rent being made for the rooms against which the practitioners concerned have protested.

2. The Chief Justice probably has authority to direct the withdrawal of the demand and to sanction the occupation of the rooms free of charge, but as it is owing to a mistake in this office that the Consulting Architect has been led to suppose that the rooms are liable to rent and for the purpose of finally settling the matter, his Lordship considers it desirable to bring the facts to the notice of the Government, and I am to request that His Excellency the Governor in Council may be pleased to accord sanction to the occupation of the two rooms rent free while they continue to be used as bar rooms.

Order, 25 May 1894, No. 1279-

The Consulting Architect will will accordingly be instructed in the Public Works Department not to demand any rent for the two rooms in question so long as they are used as bar-rooms.

Read the following paper:—

From the Registrar of the High Court, appellate side, 10th May 1894, No. 1524.

At the allotment of rooms in the new High Court building, the Honorable the Chief Justice appropriated one room for the bar and another for the Vakils of the court for use as bar rooms. Both bodies have been supplied with similar accommodation in the old High Court, free of charge and it was not intended or supposed that any rent should be levied for the use of these rooms in the new building. Indeed it is as much for the advantage and convenience of the court and the judges as of the practitioners themselves that they should have such accommodation in the court-house, and in the other High Courts in this country and in all mofussil courts in the Presidency bar rooms are provided
