page 8 of the pamphlet of "Rules and Orders of the Governor-General in Council regulating the conduct of public servants" (2nd Edition, 1891) with a copy of which every Gazetted officer has been furnished on appointment.

2. It is suggested that the Registrar of each office should keep a register in which each clerk should sign his name in acknowledgment of having seen the orders of the 3rd June 1885, and understood them.

3. The Governor-General in Council has also had under notice instances in which Rule XX of the Rules of Business, which directs that Departmental notes must be treated as confidential and not communicated to any one outside the Secretariat except to certain specified officers, and not even to these in certain cases explained, has been infringed. His Excellency in Council therefore requests that steps may be taken in each Department to secure the exact observance of this rule.
