SIR,

With reference to your No. , dated

23^d

ENCLOSURES.

I have the honor to report that the total savings surrendered from the New Law Courts now amounts to Rs 37,000. The buildings have been lately tested by a storm and exceptionally heavy rains, and have been satisfactorily completed and handed over to the departments concerned. The large saving effected will be considered very creditable to all those connected with them.

2. The large central tower was a work of a peculiarly trying nature, not only from its great height (being the highest tower in Madras) but also that its heaviest portion, the stone dome dome, was also its highest part. This stone dome is the first constructed in South India, and as it was put together at so great a height without centrings or special scaffolding, those engaged on it were exposed to great personal danger.

The Government was so good as to grant the subordinates attached to the large state railway bridges lately constructed bonuses of a year's salary. - Henry Asst Engi- neer Ellis of this Division was similarly rewarded, together with special promotion, when working in the Godavery District.

I beg therefore that you will be so good as to ask the Government to grant bonuses of a year's salary to those engaged on the new Law Courts. I have the honor to be
Your most obedient servant
H. Stephens

Sir,

Enclosures.

I have the honor to forward a letter from Mr. J. H. Stephens Henry Assistant Engineer in which he makes a request that those connected with the construction of the High Courts should be rewarded and be granted a bonus.

The work has been successfully carried out and the considerable saving of Rs 37,000 is very creditable. Mr. Stephens quotes precedents in support of his request and should Government see fit to reward him, I shall be very glad as he certainly did excellent work and to him is due the credit for the successful execution of the building and the careful management of the expenditure. I do not see that any special credit is due to any one else connected with the work.
