PENSION DEPARTMENT.

READ—the following paper :—

From A. G. CARDEW, Esq., M.A., C.S., Inspector-General of Prisons, to the Chief Secretary to Government, dated 9th August 1894, No. 4846.

With reference to paragraph 2 of G.O., dated 20th July 1894, No. 896, Pension, and to paragraph 3 of G.O., dated 30th July 1894, No. 929, Pension, I have the honour to state (1) that no rule requiring that heads of departments should countersign pension applications can be traced in this office, (2) that it has not been customary for pension applications of officers employed in jails to be countersigned by me and that no remark on this omission has been previously made by Government and (3) that the printed form of pension application supplied by the Accountant-General contains no allotted space or column for countersignature. These are the reasons which explain why the pension application referred to in the abovementioned Government Orders were not countersigned by me, but this will be done in future should Government so direct.

ORDER—dated 20th September 1894, No. 1157, Pension.

Under article 988, Civil Service Regulations, an application for pension from a non-gazetted officer has to be submitted to the "authority whose duty it would be to fill up the appointment, if vacant," and article 990 provides that the papers shall then be forwarded by this authority "through his official superiors to the audit officer for submission to the Local Government." Applications from subordinates in the Land Revenue and Judicial branches of the general administration are submitted to the Collector or to the Judge of the district in which the applicant was serving at the time, and are then forwarded direct to the Accountant-General. But in the Salt and Settlement departments applications are submitted through the Board of Revenue, while in separate departments, such as the Police, Registration, Educational, Marine, Survey, Medical and Postal departments, the application is either prepared under the orders of the head of the department concerned, or is countersigned by that authority. In the Public Works department the application is signed by the Executive Engineer and is submitted through the Superintending Engineer of the Circle to the Examiner, Public Works Accounts.

2. The existing practice, as detailed above, will be maintained, but the Government considers that the procedure followed in the Police department should now be adopted in the Jail department, and the pension applications of all subordinates in the latter department should accordingly be countersigned by the Inspector-General of Prisons. Instructions to this effect have already been issued to Mr. Cardew in official memorandum No. 73, dated 13th August 1894.

3. A copy of these Proceedings will be communicated to all heads of departments for information. The object of requiring pension applications from subordinates of minor departments to be countersigned by the head of the department concerned is to afford that authority the opportunity of verifying the entries made in the applications and more particularly of subscribing to, or if necessary of amending, the certificate "as to character and past conduct of the applicant." The entry under this head is of the greatest importance and should in all cases be very carefully considered, for it is on this certificate that the Government has, in the first instance, to rely in determining whether the applicant's services have been such as to entitle him to the full pension admissible under the rules (article 514, Civil Service Regulations).
