No. 1340

Government of Madras.

MILITARY DEPARTMENT.

Fort Saint George, the

3rd March 1894

Read the following.

From the Commandant Malabar Volunteer Rifles, to the Assistant Adjutant General, Southern District, Wellington,
No. 88, dated Calicut, 5th February 1894.

With reference to the work going on in rebuilding the Armoury and Sergeant Instructors' quarters at Vayitri, I have the honor to inform you that I am afraid there is no chance of the Company at that station continuing to exist after the next Inspection of the Corps.

The officers now with the Company wish to resign and there are men in the 11th Bn - to owing to the depression in planting in Wynaad.

The resident planters (who are also very few in number and scattered - Lieutenant Malcolm who was in Command before last Inspection, lives 14 miles from Vayittiri) are unwilling to give the necessary attention or incur any expense in connection with volunteering.

Under the circumstances,
I do not at present see how the Company can continue to exist and the Armoury therefore will not be required.

3. I have taken it upon myself to advise the Executive Engineer of these facts and to point out to him that to proceed with the work will only be needless expense. I trust the General Officer Commanding will approve of my action in this matter.

I propose shortly to send out at the circumstances under which the Company must be disbanded, should I see no prospect of carrying it out, and my proposals for forming a reserve in the District in its place.

(11) Southern District
