buy its raw material cheaper than the Military Department can ^{buy} the finished article, it is a great economy to Government that the requirements of the Military Department should be met, as far as they can be, through the jails. The proper course is obviously that definite contracts for periodical supplies from jails, during lengthened periods, should be made between the two Departments. As the Secretary of State's instructions indicate, greatest economy is obtained when the jail industries are adapted to the requirements of the consuming Department, and such adaptation is an possibility when the consuming Department reserves right of stopping the supplies at any moment.
Persons in private business should dream of calling for tenders

which the Jail Department has in view, but it is evident that they fail to apprehend the financial bearing of the case. The practical result is equivalent to a refusal to carry out the instructions the Secretary of State. It obviously an extravagance for the Government in Military Departments cash to third persons, doing that, which the Government in the Jail Department can do without cost. The latter Department has to maintain its factories and to feed its laborers, fully employed or not; and tenders from the public for articles which he himself manufactured and had exceptional facilities for cheaply manufacturing and supplying. And it should also be remembered that many private firms, which entirely admit the right of Government to supply itself from its own departments make the strongest objection, when public tenders are called for, to the right of Government departments to under-bid them. At the same time, the purchase departments should be full power, under proper precautions, to reject articles supplied which are not up to sample, and fix prices at the rates for which they can purchase in the open market.

Financial Department. I have the honor to state that a further sum of Rs 191... has been expended under the Collection of Lister and with my approval on repairs to the Bezawada Cemetery.
This money is available from my Budget 1893/94 but the Executive Engineer is under the present rules unable to receive it without the sanction of Government.

2. I have the honor to request that you will be pleased to sanction the transfer of Rs 191... from the money available in my Budget to the D.P. to meet this expenditure.

Order dated 27th February 1894, No. 170.
The Accountant General will be

THE MADRAS GOVERNMENT.

Read the following

G.O. No. 343 dated 13th February 1894

of the Report of the Finance

Communicated to officers in continuation of G.O. No. 270 dated 30th January 1894, of the P.W. Department with the remark that Suptg Engrs must use their own discretion as to the source from which they obtain tents, the purchase of which may from time to time be sanctioned, but that they should give due weight to the possible ^{ability} power of the Vellore jail to supply tents at a cost which, allowing for the

Saving
the ~~journey~~ in Carriage may be less than that at which tents of equally good quality can be purchased elsewhere. Ceteris paribus, the reference should be given to the local jail manufacture.
