Cause of Insolvency.

I most respectfully beg to state the Cause of my Insolvency that from the year 1888 up to 1890, owing to the inability of my father, in consequence of old age and want of funds to meet his demands, and ^{as} his creditors were pressing him for payment I was compelled to undertake to liquidate his debts, which amounted to about Rs 1000 and for this purpose was obliged to borrow sums of money from persons at exorbitant rates of interest and used to pay them regularly every month some their instalments and others their interest. When unable to pay their instalments my creditors used to press for payment of same when I was compelled to renew my promissory notes with them by adding heavy rates of interest on account of which my debts accumulated very heavily on me.

In 1891 my family were taken very ill for a long time when I was again forced to borrow fresh loans by adding exorbitant interest for the purpose of meeting the expenses of medicine, nourishment, and Doctor's attendance. In the same year my wife died of Cholera for which I was again compelled to borrow small sums of money from different creditors to defray the funeral expenses of my said wife.

In 1892 my son who was about the age of 4 years and who was ill for a very long time and died for which I was again compelled to borrow small sums of money by adding exorbitant interest to defray the funeral expenses of my son.

In the same year 1892 my salary being reduced from Rs 112 to Rs 80 and being at the time already greatly troubled and sadly discomfited in mind. This added in a great measure to weigh me down and the shock being too much for me to sustain I suddenly became very ill and delirious in mind for three months during which time I was ordered by the Doctor to leave Madras for Bangalore as a change, rest of body and mind, for which I had to borrow small sums of money by adding exorbitant rates of interest to meet the expenses of Doctor's attendance, medicine, nourishment &c.:-

In 1893 a moiety of my salary was attached by my creditors, after which, coupled with the reduction of my salary as aforesaid from Rs 112 to Rs 80. I only used to draw Rs 40 p. per mensem, a sum barely sufficient to support myself, an aged father of 96 years and five children, and additionally was pay Rs 5/- a month towards the benefit of my creditors and I have no other alternative.

Therefore under the aforesaid unforeseen circumstances I beg this Honorable Court will be pleased to grant me the relief for Insolvent Debtors in India -
