Volunteers, while employed on military duties, would seem, as a matter of account, to be more correctly chargeable to ^{the} military than to the Public Works or other Civil Department.

Forwarded to the Chief Engineer, Public Works Department, with the remark that, though G. O. 2,657 W. of 10th October, 1893, makes no specific reference to municipal workshops, it is concluded that the Executive Engineer is right in assuming that the members of such establishments are not thereby intended to be debarred from the privileges granted to their confreres in Madras.

2. The point raised in para 3 of the Secy Engineer's does not seem to call for notice by Government, with the exception that the debit of pay to Volunteers

A claim has just been submitted to me by Captain Atkinson - Commanding East Coast Railway Volunteers, in which Mr. Moore, a workman employed on daily wages in Beaf-wada Government Workshops, asks for payment for his time (9 days) during his absence with his Company at the Volunteer Camp, Vizianagram in Jan'y, '95.

2. Acting on what seems to be the spirit of G. O. No. 2657 W. of 18th October, 1893, in which this concession is allowed for the Presidency Workshops, Madras, I have ordered the payment to be made.

3. I would observe, however, that if daily workmen employed in Government Workshops are paid by Govt. for the time spent by them at Volunteer duties
