Note for His Excellency the Governor:—

When His Excellency
asked me this morning whether a note on the subject of the Steam Boiler Act, initialed by me, was submitted with the approval of the Secretary to Government
I was under the impression that he referred to the proposed engagement of a Boiler Inspector, and knowing that the only note that I had written on that subject was intended for the Secretary, I thought it must have been submitted to His Excellency by mistake. His Excellency, however, presumably referred to the accompanying

Sir, .

The Madras Steam Boiler Act 1893.

We have the honour to request that we may be favored with 3 copies of the Notifications and orders proposed to be issued under the above act for our own guidance and that of our Engineers.

We regret that we in common with the other Mill owners in Madras have not been given an opportunity of expressing our opinion on these orders which closely affect us as the Principal Steam Users.

It appears to us that it will be impossible for Government to obtain the services of a man competent to administer the act on a salary of Rs.250-10-300 per mensem, whilst we find it necessary to pay Engineers Rs.500/- per mensem, with free houses and Exchange compensation, and have 4 Engineers in our employ all receiving higher salaries than Government are offering for a man to whose directions our Engineers will practically have to comply.

The professional reputation of our men is as much a matter of importance to each as though he were himself a Govt. Servant, and it is a hardship that so important a position should be occupied by any one in whom steam users have not confidence and on whose practical knowledge and ability they cannot rely.

Our Boilers cost from Rs.15000/20000 each, and as we have 19 of the largest type in Madras, the Property is very valuable, and the unnecessary reduction of steam pressure by even a few pounds would prove a serious
