The only districts therefore which require attention are Nellore, Chingleput, North Arcot, Coimbatore, South Arcot, Trichinopoly, Salem and the upland taluks of Kistna. It is not expected that the two officers deputed should do much in the way of actual inspection of tools, but it will be their duty to impress on district officials, both Public Works Department and Revenue, the necessity for devoting immediate attention to the points mentioned above; they should also see that district officers are prepared at all points to meet a possible failure of the next south-west monsoon and have a correct apprehension of the methods of relief administration laid down in the Famine Code.

REVENUE DEPARTMENT.

ORDER—No. 382, Revenue, dated 25th May 1897.

Miscellaneous.

It was recently reported from Vizagapatam that the opening of certain relief works in the district had been delayed, owing to want of tools, the Public Works officers having failed to take timely steps to procure a supply from Ganjám, where all the famine tools of the I Circle had been left at the close of the last famine in 1889, and it is possible that similar delays may be caused in other districts also by a want of forethought on this point. There is also reason to believe that the tools served out to relief workers are sometimes in an unserviceable condition and that estimates for works reported to be ready are often not in a condition, to be acted upon. The Government therefore resolves to depute jointly the Commissioner of Revenue Settlement, Land Records and Agriculture, and the Chief Engineer, Public Works Department, on a tour of inspection for the purpose of ascertaining that estimates for works included in the famine programmes of districts are really ready, and that the tools provided for the different circles and districts are in a condition fit for use and sufficient for probable requirements.

2. The tour need not extend to all the districts of the Presidency. The orders that have been issued by the Government and the Board of Revenue from time to time have probably set things right in the Deccan districts and the Circars; there is no anxiety in regard to Malabar and South Canara, and the southern districts do not depend much on the south-west monsoon. The only districts therefore which require attention are Nellore, Chingleput, North Arcot, Coimbatore, South Arcot, Trichinopoly, Salem and the upland taluks of Kistna. It is not expected that the two officers deputed should do much in the way of actual inspection of tools, but it will be their duty to impress on district officials, both Public Works Department and Revenue, the necessity for devoting immediate attention to the points mentioned above; they should also see that district officers are prepared at all points to meet a possible failure of the next south-west monsoon and have a correct apprehension of the methods of relief administration laid down in the Famine Code.
