

GOVERNMENT OF MADRAS.
PUBLIC DEPARTMENT.

ORDER—No. 736, Public, dated 12th June 1897.

Instances have occurred of late where Government orders have been communicated to the Public department alone when it was obviously intended that these orders were to be communicated to various heads of departments, many of whom are not under the Public department.

Departments of the Secretariat are therefore reminded that it is not the duty of the Public department, but of the administrative department concerned, to communicate its orders to such other departments as it may be necessary, for communication to heads of departments under them.
