ENCLOSURE.

From the Government of India, Finance and Commerce Department, to all Local Governments and Administrations, dated 22nd December 1896, No. 5409 A.

I am desired to remind _____ that it is necessary that the ordinary budget system of control of expenditure be applied to famine expenditure and to advances made in consequence of prevailing distress; that is, that "grants," whether by re-appropriation or in the form of "extra grants," be formally made to provide for intended expenditure.

2. The amount and nature of the outlay to be incurred is for the most part fully laid down in the Famine Codes; but unless the officers charged with the duty of expenditure take care to provide themselves with the necessary "grants" for the purpose, the Government, both Local and Imperial, are without the means either of knowledge of, or of control over, the outlay.

3. For the same reason I am to remind the Local Governments that it is incumbent upon them to keep the Government of India informed of any extra "grants" made or anticipated either from Local or Provincial funds to meet the necessities of the present position, and to make early proposals for "grants" from Imperial, if Local or Provincial balances are not available.

4. This letter refers purely to the financial aspects of the matter under consideration, and is not intended to affect any orders as to administrative procedure.

From the Examiner, Public Works Accounts, Madras, dated 18th January 1897.
