PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT.

READ—the following paper :—

From G. H. D. WALKER, Esq., Under-Secretary to the Government of India, Public Works Department (General), to the Secretary to the Government of Madras, dated Simla, 14th October 1892, No. 3354 G.

As there is possibly some doubt as to the exact intention of the Resolution regarding the establishment of a Provincial service recruited in India for the Engineer establishment, * so far as concerns the exact time at which appointments may first be made under the new rules, I am directed to offer the following

* Public Works Department, No. 2112 G., dated 19th July 1892.

further explanation of the intention of the Resolution.

2. So long as appointments continued to be made, as provided in paragraph 2 of the Resolution, under Resolution No. 1443 G., dated 13th December 1884, additional appointments can only be made under the new rules up to the total number, namely, 12 and 13 appointments annually, provided for in the Resolution of July 1892.

3. Thus in the case of lists under the Government of India, the latter Resolution provides for the appointment of five apprentices from the Thomason College, and three upper subordinates, while the Resolution of 1884 provides four and five appointments in alternate years. Consequently three appointments at least of upper subordinates can be made annually under the new rules to the lists under the Government of India during the currency of the orders of 1884, beginning with the present year. In the year following that in which the students of the Thomason College, who had already entered upon their course of training on the date of the orders of July 1892, complete their course, the full number of appointments under the new rules specified in clause III of the Resolution will be given.

4. In the case of Bengal it is observed that under the orders of 1884 one and two appointments in alternate years are given to the Sibpur College, while under the orders of 1892 one appointment annually is made from the College and in alternate years one upper subordinate may be appointed. Thus the number of appointments under the new orders are the same as under the previous orders; and no appointment can be made under the new rules until appointments cease to be made in accordance with the provisions of paragraph 2 of Resolution No. 2112 G., dated 19th July 1892, under the orders of 1884.

5. No appointment should be made under the new rules to the Madras list until appointments cease to be made under the orders of 1884.

6. The same remark applies to the Bombay list.

7. Should, however, the appointments on any of the last three lists, actually made under the rules of 1884, fall absolutely short of the number guaranteed under the new rules, a reference may be made to this Government as to the admissibility of an appointment under the new rules.

ORDER—dated 17th November 1892, No. 3155 W., Public Works.

Recorded with the remark that the restriction now imposed will, in the case of
 * G.O., 2232 W., 12th August 1892. Madras, defer till the 1st January 1898, the operation of the Resolution * of the Government of India, No. 2112 G., dated 19th July 1892, seeing that the guaranteed appointment under the rules of 1884 will not, in the case of the College students of the current year, fall due till the 1st January 1897; the College course, theoretical and practical, extending over a period of five years. The rules of 1884 will, during the interval, continue in force. But the College students of 1891-92 obtaining the guaranteed appointments under the rules of 1884 will fall beyond the three years' limit laid down in para. 2 of the Government of India Resolution of 1892, the curriculum extending to five years, as already noted. The cases of these men will in due course have to be specially reported to the Government of India in view to the concession of "pay and pension under the rules hitherto obtaining" being allowed.

2. No appointment of an upper subordinate to the Provincial establishment can be made till the 1st January 1899 except in the contingency provided for in para. 7 of the present communication of the Government of India.
