was not first made to the workshops. It is now reported that the sheets were urgently required to protect the engines and men from the weather, as work was carried on day & night, the deeping of this well being an urgent matter. It was therefore considered necessary to purchase the sheets locally to avoid the delay that would occur, & the inconvenience & suffering that would result, if the sheets had to be procured from the workshops. It was for this work that Mr. Malet engaged a Mechanical Engineer and agreed to pay him at a rate of Rs. 12 per diem - a matter which has been submitted separately for orders. Taking into consideration the urgency of the case, & the fact that the total cost of the sheets purchased is only Rs. 132, the sanction applied for may be accorded. The articles were purchased in anticipation of sanction.
