and many of the Reserve Inspectors are similarly encumbered. Such a house as that originally proposed, therefore, does not contain sufficient accommodation, for decency requires that there should be at least two bed rooms. The Super.

intendent of Police, in communication with the Superintending Engineer, has forwarded a revised plan, which provides for an extra bed room, bath room and a garden. The estimated cost of these additions is Rs 520.

3. The total cost will be Rs 2420 of which, however, a sum of Rs 732 is the cost of the site.

4. I consider that the revised plan, now sent, may be adopted as the standard plan of a residence for a Reserve Inspector who is always a European.
