Sir,

With reference to your letter No.78.W.of 13th January 1898, I have the honour to inform you that arrangements have been made for the supply of the cocks with the exception of the 2 inch gauge cocks for which, owing to the unusual size, I have been unable to obtain any tender.

I shall therefore be obliged by your informing me as to any other size which might be substituted.

I have the honour to be, Sir,

2. In my letter No. 17W dated 6 January 1898, there was no intention to suggest that blinds for doors and windows should be charged to works. The cost of such articles, if made of perishable materials such as bamboo and rattan or cloth, would be charged to contingencies in the case of public offices, or be provided by the tenants in the case of residences replaced by hinged door and window frames, with panels fitted with wire netting, as suggested in your letter, the cost would be the rate being rupees 16 per 100 square feet. Such charge I am to submit, would be a very heavy debit against contingencies in the case of public offices, while it would be ^{reasonable} ~~reasonable~~ to expect the tenants of Government residences to provide chicks at their own expense more especially as officers are constantly liable to transfers.

No. 95. M.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.
PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT.

CIVILS WORKS.
Miscellaneous.

To
The Secretary to the Government of Madras,
Public Works Department.

Calcutta, the 10th March 1898.

Sir,

I am directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter No. 17 W., dated the 6th January 1898, suggesting that rattan blinds or "chicks" may be included in paragraph 2, Chapter X, Volume I, Public Works Department Code, among the fixtures which are to be supplied by the Executive Engineer in the case of every building constructed by the Public Works Department.

2. I am to say that the Government of India are of opinion that in all important Government buildings, chicks except in verandahs should as far as practicable be replaced by hinged door and window frames with the panels fitted with strong wire netting. This arrangement answers all the purposes of ordinary cane or bamboo chicks and is neater and more convenient. Such frames being true fixtures, their first cost and repairs are chargeable to works.

3. But the Government of India consider it undesirable to charge rattan chicks to works. Wind and weather are most destructive to such articles and that even the more durable rattan chicks of the Madras Presidency are perishable and require frequent repairs and renewals is shown by the fact that that their maintenance in the Government Houses at Madras and Guindy costs Rs.1,800 annually.

4. When it is considered necessary to supply such chieks for the verandahs, doors or windows of buildings used for public purposes their cost, as now, should be charged against contingencies; while in the case of residential Government buildings for which rent is charged they should be provided by the tenants themselves.

I have the honour to be,

Sir,

Your most obedient servant.

J. J. Boreford

Joint Secretary to the Govt. of India
