READ—the following papers :—

From H. A. MOSS, Esq., General Superintendent, Public Works Workshops, to the Superintending Engineer, V Circle, dated 27th July 1898, No. 69 S.E./5.

Under Chief Engineer's Memorandum No. 5424 C., dated the 14th December 1897, if the aggregate leave taken by an Engineer or Engineer Subordinate student, during his practical course, exceeds one month, his practical course should be extended by a period equal to such excess. I have the honour to enquire if, in such a case, Government intends that the student should be paid his usual stipend for the period of the extended course.

2. The memorandum above quoted is not clear on this point and the Examiner has requested me to make the reference in connection with a claim on behalf of K. Srinivasa Aiyangar, Engineer Student, who was absent for fourteen days in excess of the one month's leave admissible to him with full stipend during his practical course in the year 1897.

Office-note from the Examiner, Public Works Accounts, dated 6th September 1898, No. 1051 A./E.

This reference was made at the suggestion of this office (vide copy of my No. 876 A./E., dated 19th July 1898, herewith.

2. In Chief Engineer's Memorandum No. 5424 C., dated 14th December 1897, it is simply stated that if the leave taken during a year of the student's practical course exceeds one month, the practical course should be extended by a period equal to such excess, but no mention is made as to whether the excess period over a month entails forfeiture of stipend or not.

No. 4153 C.

Referred to the Educational Department for orders on the point raised by the Examiner, Pubic Works Accounts, viz., whether a student who obtains leave in excess of one month, and whose practical course is extended by a corresponding period, is entitled to stipend during the extended period of practical training.

2. Clause V, article XIV of the revised rules of the College of Engineering issued with G.O., No. 530, Educational, dated 22nd August 1898, is not specific on this point, but inasmuch as stipend is forfeited during any period of leave in excess of one month, it seems clear that it should be paid during the corresponding period of extended training.

MEMORANDUM.

Dated Madras, 14th December 1897.

With reference to Endorsement of the Suptg. Engineer II circle, No. 2473 K.N. dated 8. December 1897, the undersigned has the honour to state that the practical course of an Engineer, or an Engineer-Subordinate student terminates on the last day of the calendar year, viz. 31st December, unless the aggregate leave taken by him during the year of his practical course exceeds one month, in which case, his practical course should be extended by a period equal to such excess.

(Sd) W.B. de Winton.
Chief Engineer.

This memo was written to the Supdg. Engineer on the 8th instant when he was in the act of completing his practical course. It was by the clerk in which he was beginning his course. It was supplied to me now. R.V. Sons. Head Clerk.
