quite impossible to comply with code rules during a severe famine without sacrificing numbers of lives. The Suptg. Engr. now submits estimates to cover the whole outlay incurred during the late famine, but as the accounts have already been closed, it is useless to sanction the estimates.
The Examiner considers that it will be sufficient if the expenditure of Rs 1985-40 is approved by Govt. and it is therefore proposed to sanction the expenditure.

To THE Chief Engineer,
P.W. Department, Madras.

Sir,

Enclosures.

- 1 Report.
- 2 Estimates.

In reference to G.O. No. 501W of 28th February 1898, I have the honour to forward two estimates of Rs 22,995 & 565 for articles purchased locally for famine purposes during the year 1896-97.

2. I propose to pass these "pro forma" but it is not clear whether any useful purpose will be served by doing so.

3. It was of course quite impossible to comply with code regulations during a severe famine, without sacrificing numbers of lives.

I have the honour to be,

Sir,

Your most obedient servant,

Wm. Baddeley Lieut. Col. R.E.

Suptg. Engineer, III Circle.
